Flood Fight Being Won In Middle West

Red River Edges Toward Its Highest Crests Of Century

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — The flooding Red River edged toward the highest crests of this century today but flood fighters along the North Dakota-Minnesota border seemed to be winning their battle in most places.

Minnesota Gov. Karl Rolvaag toured northwestern Minnesota Monday and had high praise for local officials.

"You've capitalized on your experience of a year ago," he told officials at East Grand Forks, Minn., where sturdy dikes of plastic film, earth and sandbags were fending off the river.

At the little town of Oslo, Minn., an island in a lake 10 miles wide and 30 miles long, Rolvaag looked over a new 2½-mile dike that has kept the town dry for the first time in a long history of spring floods.

The swollen Red River claimed its first life of the spring Monday. Brad Remillong, 4, of Fargo, N.D., apparently slipped into the waters near his home. His body was recovered by firemen.

Crews Return In Accord At Sterling Plant

Work resumed this morning at the Sterling China Co. in Wellsville after an agreement Monday afternoon resolved a dispute which had begun Friday.

The accord came after an 8-hour-long bargaining session between Local 24 of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the pottery management.

The union went on strike Friday in a dispute over the rescheduling of sliphouse employes. The strike had idled all 325 employes.

The dispute developed from a cut made in the work force in the two sliphouses, the crews being reduced from 12 to six. The other six men then had been relocated on different jobs at the plant.

As a result of the negotiations, the total force was set at eight men, four in each sliphouse, and the remaining four were given other jobs.

Wayne Rose is president of Local 24.

Another Step Cleared For Housing Plan

Following through on a decision made March 29 in a conference with the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority, Council enacted legislation Monday night clearing the way for an application for construction of 260 units of low - cost public housing in East Liverpool.

The legislation provides that the application will be filed by the county housing authority with the Public Housing Administration of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The application will include a request for a preliminary loan of $43,500 for the project, the legislation provides.

As a companion measure, Council approved an ordinance providing for a cooperative agreement between the city and the housing authority for operation of the low - cost units.

Both pieces of legislation were enacted unanimously under suspension of rules.

It represents the latest step in a movement that has been under way for nearly two years for establishment of low - cost housing in East Liverpool and other areas of Columbiana County.

In the next step, the city's application will be forwarded to the federal agency's regional office at Chicago.

"This legislation represents a couple more steps in a project that started right in this chamber," Councilman Norman Bucher commented. "I hope we will see the first bricks laid soon for the housing development."

Area Woman Killed As Car Strikes Truck

Mrs. Emma Hosey, Toronto Resident, Victim Of Accident

A Toronto woman was killed Monday night at 7:05 when the car in which she was a passenger rammed the rear of a tractor - trailer truck on Route 7, a mile and a half north of Steubenville.

Mrs. Emma Pauline Hosey, 34, of 1213 S. River Ave. was pronounced dead on arrival at Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville with severe injuries suffered in the crash.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Wintersville said Mrs. Hosey was a passenger in a car driven by Jesse J. Manypenny, 82, of 1122 S. River Ave., Toronto.

The patrol said Manypenny drove his car up underneath the trailer of a rig operated by Ralph E. Ebersole, 25, of Mifflintown, Pa.

Pennsylvania Extends Auto Registrations

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania motorists have been given an extra 10 days to secure their 1966 auto registrations.

The deadline, already extended once, was moved up to April 15 Monday by Theodore B. Smith Jr., secretary of the State Revenue Department.

Smith said the extension was because thousands of registrations mailed by the department last week were undelivered because of the railroad strike.

The original deadline of March 31 was extended to April 5 because of a heavy volume of last-minute applications, Smith said.

Compromise May Lift Viet Civil War Threat

Viet Envoy Expects No Ky Ouster

Considers Unlikely Any U.S. Pullout Because Of Riots

WASHINGTON (AP — Saigon's ambassador to Washington says he does not believe the political unrest in South Viet Nam is strong enough to oust the government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

He considers unlikely any U.S. withdrawal because of the rioting that has taken on an increasing anti-American tone.

Ambassador Vu Van Thai expressed these views today in an interview.

"What you see now is a manifestation of the extremist political wing," he said.

"You have still the bulk of the moderates on both sides — the Buddhists and the Catholics.

"It is my own feeling that the extreme wing does not have enough appeal with the public to topple the military regime."

He expressed hope that the moderates would become a key factor in the crystalizing of the Viet Nam political structure.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said it is possible that South Vietnamese critics of Premier Ky have decided he is "an American tool."

Aiken said that opposition viewpoint may have contributed to the wave of demonstrations that now threaten Ky's regime.

"Apparently things have gone rather badly since the Honolulu conference," Aiken said in an interview. "I don't know whether that is a coincidence, or whether the people regarded Ky as an American tool after that."

Ky and President Johnson met in Honolulu three months ago. Their talks led to a joint declaration of determination in the war on Communist guerrillas and in "the work of social revolution."

In that quest, the United States pledged full support.

Pre-School Registration Slated May 4

To parents of youngsters entering school for the first time next fall: Circle Wednesday, May 4, on your calendar.

The annual pre-school registration will be held on that date, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the Board of Education Monday night. The times of registration at the various buildings will be announced later.

Blair emphasized children must be 6 on or before Sept. 15 in order to enroll in first grade.

It is mandatory that parents bring a copy of the child's birth certificate and furnish proof of immunization against polio, whoopng cough, tetanus, typhoid and smallpox in order for the child to be enrolled. Children can be excluded unless the records are furnished, Blair continued.

Questioned about the problem at Westgate, the superintendent said school officials each year use various means to inform parents of the pre - school registration but that less than half of the children entering Westgate are registered prior to the opening day of classes.

"It creates a lot of confusion on the opening day," he commented. Some parents bring children, but have no record of immunization or birth certificates and then become irritated because of the delay in enrolling their child, he added.

Only 25 Miles Northeast Of Hanoi

U.S. Bombers Lash Cong Main Rail Line To China

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers lashed North Viet Nam's main railroad line to Red China, giving top priority to a bridge only 25 miles northeast of Hanoi, an American spokesman reported today.

The spokesman said that for the first time since the 37-day bombing pause ended Jan. 31, restrictions limiting American planes to communication targets in the southern part of North Viet Nam had been lifted somewhat. He did not explain further.

With clearing skies, Air Force and Navy planes flew 65 combat missions Monday over North Viet Nam. Asked if the switch to targets near the North Vietnamese capital was in reprisal for the terrorist bombing last week of a U.S. officers' billet in Saigon, a U.S. embassy spokesman said: "No, we do not make reprisal attacks."

Three Americans and three Vietnamese were killed and more than 100 persons were wounded in the attack on the billet early last Friday. The United States began almost daily air raids on the Communist north Feb. 7, 1965, in reprisal for a guerrilla attack on the U.S. base at Pleiku, in South Viet Nam's central highlands.

In addition to the Phu Lang Thon railroad bridge 25 miles outside Hanoi, the Air Force planes attacked a section of the railroad 52 miles northeast of the capital and a highway bridge and marshaling yard in the same general area. The spokesman said the yard was left in an unusable state but haze prevented assessment of the results of the other attacks.

U.S. planes last hit the sector in November.

Other Air Force jets blasted the Phu Tho railroad bridge 46 miles northwest of Hanoi along North Viet Nam's other major rail link to China — along the Red River. The report said: "Bridge downed and rails out."

Navy jets from the carriers Enterprise and Hancock bombed the Hay Yen and Phuoc Loi naval bases near Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi. The pilots reported destroying 100 tents, four to six buildings, a warehouse and underground storage areas and setting other structures aflame.

Air Force B52s from Guam returned to South Viet Nam's northern provinces this morning, striking a Viet Cong and North Vietnamese assembly point 25 miles west of Hue.

Only light, sporadic contact was reported in the big U.S. ground operations in South Viet Nam. Asked if the political unrest had interfered with allied military operations, an Army spokesman said: "Not at all. Patrols are going out as usual, even in the 1st Corps."

Earlier, a Vietnamese army spokesman reported that Vietnamese troops on a reconnaissance mission in the Mekong Delta had killed 83 Viet Cong in a heavy engagement Monday in Phony Dinh Province southwest of Saigon. He said another 50 Reds were killed by air strikes. No government casualties were reported.

Operations Near Normal

Legal Disputes Mar Rail Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads are operating at almost full capacity today as legal arguments over union fines continue.

Eight major carriers went back into operation Monday after a costly four-day strike by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen.

The strike by 8,000 firemen put more than 200,000 workers either out of jobs or on part-time work, piled up freight and closed some industries because of lack of supplies.

The striking firemen lost $320,000 a day in wages. The railroads say they lost more than $30 million in revenue.

As the trains ran again, an argument erupted on whether the union owes $27,500 in contempt-of-court fines.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff of U.S. District Court in Washington lifted a threat of $510,000 a day in fines Monday.

But court officials said fines of $27,500 are due and payable because the strike did not end by noon Sunday.

The strike, called by BLF&E President H. E. Gilbert over the issue of eliminating firemen's jobs, ended late Sunday night.

An attorney for the union said no fines are due. "No trial has been held to determine whether the brotherhood violated the order after noon Sunday," he said in Washington.

Court officials said that if the fine is not paid in a reasonable time, the bill will be turned over to a U.S. marshal for collection.

There is a possibility of damage suits against the union by some of the carriers.

The Illinois Central said in Chicago Monday night that it will file a damage suit against the BLF&E by the end of the week.

Union Pacific said earlier that it plans to file suit.

The other struck railroads were the Seaboard Air Line, Central of Georgia, Missouri Pacific, Grand Trunk Western, Boston & Maine and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The walkout of 1,590 firemen forced the layoff of half the Pennsylvania's 60,000 employes, a spokesman said. He estimated that the strike cost the system "in the millions of dollars."

150-Mile Path Of Destruction

Twister Wreckage Sifted For Victims In Florida

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Tornadoes spawned in a severe squall line thrashed across central Florida Monday, leaving a 150-mile path of destruction from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic.

At least nine were dead, more than 300 injured, several missing, and hundreds of homes, house trailers and businesses destroyed. National Guardsmen were on duty through the night, probing wreckage for any additional bodies and guarding against looting.

Gov. Haydon Burns said he would ask President Johnson to declare five counties disaster areas, making them eligible for federal relief.

The Red Cross said the hardest hit area was around Gibsonia, north of Lakeland, where a preliminary survey showed at least 300 homes destroyed or damaged. There was heavy damage all around Lakeland, a city of 41,000, at Auburndale, Davenport, Haines City and Winter Haven.

Striking first at the St. Petersburg-Clearwater area about 8 a.m., the howling winds next hit Tampa, second largest city in the state with 275,000, then moved on to Lakeland in the northern part of citrus-rich Polk County.

The twisters moved south of Orlando and went into the Atlantic Ocean just south of the missile center at Cape Kennedy.

West of Gibsonia, another 32 houses were destroyed. Twenty-six trailers were splintered at a trailer park south of Polk City. At least four homes destroyed in an area southwest of Lakeland.

Space Agency Picks 19 New Astronauts

Largest Group To Be Named At One Time; Total At 50

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. space agency, faced with fewer astronauts than expected to blaze America's trail in space, has 19 new spacemen, the largest group ever named at one time.

These additions to the team Monday boosted the astronaut ranks to an even 50, but it will be at least two years before any of the rookies gets a chance to man a spaceship under current training policies.

Nevertheless, the agency prepared for the busy time toward the end of this decade, when it hopes to be rocketing three men at a time on trips to the moon, and on other ambitious space missions.

Originally, officials planned to pick only 15 for the new group. However, this was before the Gemini 9 crew — Elliot M. See and Air Force Maj. Charles A. Bassett Jr. — died in a jet plane crash Feb. 28.

Buddhists Continue To Stir Unrest

Demand National Assembly Be Set Up In 3 Months

SAIGON (AP) — A compromise appeared tonight to lift the threat of civil war within the Vietnamese armed forces at Da Nang. But a Buddhist demand for establishment of a national assembly within three months maintained political tension.

Riot police fired tear gas and broke up a crowd of about 700, including a lot of street urchins, who marched again in Saigon in violation of a curfew.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew back to the capital after day-long talks at the sealed-off Da Nang airbase with Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Chuan intended to avert bloodshed between loyal and dissident troops. Chuan commands the 1st Corps area, the birthplace of current opposition to Ky's military regime.

Chuan told newsmen there of arrangements to ease the crisis. Among other things, he said, he is sending away a battalion he had called in to oppose 1,300 Vietnamese marines Ky flew to the Da Nang base, while government orders will confine the marines to that base.

The call for the government to set up a National Assembly within three months was voiced by Thich Tam Chau, chairman of Saigon's Buddhist Institute, an address before an estimated 15,000 persons in the institute's compound. He appealed to the people to join him in a "night of prayer" for the Vietnamese who have struck against Ky's regime and criticized the U.S. government.

Chuan said he also had pledged to control the antigovernment demonstrations that have swept Da Nang and would try to bring a halt to expressions of anti-Americanism that accompanied the demonstrations. The demonstrators objected chiefly to American support of the military government.

Da Nang was calm today and there were no demonstrations. Hundreds of Buddhist-led youths continued to demonstrate against the government in Saigon, but the army was taking a firm hand with them and so far had them under control.

Ky also made a radio broadcast from the Da Nang base,

Plans Tabled On Change In Curb Meters

To allow time for further study of the lengthy legislation, Council deferred action Monday night on an ordinance that would boost from 5 to 10 cents hourly the rate at virtually all of the city's on-street parking meters and make other changes in the present system.

The legislation also calls for extension of meters on three stretches close to the downtown business area: The west side of Market St. from 5th St. to 6th St.; both sides of Washington St. between 3rd St. and 4th St., and both sides of 5th St. between Jackson St. and Jefferson St.

It allows Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to set up two so-called "short-time" parking spots in each block, where a motorist may halt for a maximum of 15 minutes for a 5-cent fee.

The charge at other on-street meters would be 10 cents hourly, but drivers would be permitted to utilize a 5-cent piece to obtain 30 minutes' parking time, the legislation provides.

It also calls for a 5-cent hourly fee on the so-called "Ceramic Annex" parking lot which is

Pre-School Registration Slated May 4

To parents of youngsters entering school for the first time next fall: Circle Wednesday, May 4, on your calendar.

The annual pre-school registration will be held on that date, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the Board of Education Monday night. The times of registration at the various buildings will be announced later.

Blair emphasized children must be 6 on or before Sept. 15 in order to enroll in first grade.

It is mandatory that parents bring a copy of the child's birth certificate and furnish proof of immunization against polio, whoopng cough, tetanus, typhoid and smallpox in order for the child to be enrolled. Children can be excluded unless the records are furnished, Blair continued.

Questioned about the problem at Westgate, the superintendent said school officials each year use various means to inform parents of the pre - school registration but that less than half of the children entering Westgate are registered prior to the opening day of classes.

"It creates a lot of confusion on the opening day," he commented. Some parents bring children, but have no record of immunization or birth certificates and then become irritated because of the delay in enrolling their child, he added.

Legal Disputes Mar Rail Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads are operating at almost full capacity today as legal arguments over union fines continue.

Eight major carriers went back into operation Monday after a costly four-day strike by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen.

The strike by 8,000 firemen put more than 200,000 workers either out of jobs or on part-time work, piled up freight and closed some industries because of lack of supplies.

The striking firemen lost $320,000 a day in wages. The railroads say they lost more than $30 million in revenue.

As the trains ran again, an argument erupted on whether the union owes $27,500 in contempt-of-court fines.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff of U.S. District Court in Washington lifted a threat of $510,000 a day in fines Monday.

But court officials said fines of $27,500 are due and payable because the strike did not end by noon Sunday.

The strike, called by BLF&E President H. E. Gilbert over the issue of eliminating firemen's jobs, ended late Sunday night.

An attorney for the union said no fines are due. "No trial has been held to determine whether the brotherhood violated the order after noon Sunday," he said in Washington.

Court officials said that if the fine is not paid in a reasonable time, the bill will be turned over to a U.S. marshal for collection.

There is a possibility of damage suits against the union by some of the carriers.

The Illinois Central said in Chicago Monday night that it will file a damage suit against the BLF&E by the end of the week.

Union Pacific said earlier that it plans to file suit.

The other struck railroads were the Seaboard Air Line, Central of Georgia, Missouri Pacific, Grand Trunk Western, Boston & Maine and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The walkout of 1,590 firemen forced the layoff of half the Pennsylvania's 60,000 employes, a spokesman said. He estimated that the strike cost the system "in the millions of dollars."

150-Mile Path Of Destruction

Twister Wreckage Sifted For Victims In Florida

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Tornadoes spawned in a severe squall line thrashed across central Florida Monday, leaving a 150-mile path of destruction from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic.

At least nine were dead, more than 300 injured, several missing, and hundreds of homes, house trailers and businesses destroyed. National Guardsmen were on duty through the night, probing wreckage for any additional bodies and guarding against looting.

Gov. Haydon Burns said he would ask President Johnson to declare five counties disaster areas, making them eligible for federal relief.

The Red Cross said the hardest hit area was around Gibsonia, north of Lakeland, where a preliminary survey showed at least 300 homes destroyed or damaged. There was heavy damage all around Lakeland, a city of 41,000, at Auburndale, Davenport, Haines City and Winter Haven.

Striking first at the St. Petersburg-Clearwater area about 8 a.m., the howling winds next hit Tampa, second largest city in the state with 275,000, then moved on to Lakeland in the northern part of citrus-rich Polk County.

The twisters moved south of Orlando and went into the Atlantic Ocean just south of the missile center at Cape Kennedy.

West of Gibsonia, another 32 houses were destroyed. Twenty-six trailers were splintered at a trailer park south of Polk City. At least four homes destroyed in an area southwest of Lakeland.

Space Agency Picks 19 New Astronauts

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. space agency, faced with fewer astronauts than expected to blaze America's trail in space, has 19 new spacemen, the largest group ever named at one time.

These additions to the team Monday boosted the astronaut ranks to an even 50, but it will be at least two years before any of the rookies gets a chance to man a spaceship under current training policies.

Nevertheless, the agency prepared for the busy time toward the end of this decade, when it hopes to be rocketing three men at a time on trips to the moon, and on other ambitious space missions.

Originally, officials planned to pick only 15 for the new group. However, this was before the Gemini 9 crew — Elliot M. See and Air Force Maj. Charles A. Bassett Jr. — died in a jet plane crash Feb. 28.

The astronaut corps has been

Plans Tabled On Change In Curb Meters

To allow time for further study of the lengthy legislation, Council deferred action Monday night on an ordinance that would boost from 5 to 10 cents hourly the rate at virtually all of the city's on-street parking meters and make other changes in the present system.

The legislation also calls for extension of meters on three stretches close to the downtown business area: The west side of Market St. from 5th St. to 6th St.; both sides of Washington St. between 3rd St. and 4th St., and both sides of 5th St. between Jackson St. and Jefferson St.

It allows Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to set up two so-called "short-time" parking spots in each block, where a motorist may halt for a maximum of 15 minutes for a 5-cent fee.

The charge at other on-street meters would be 10 cents hourly, but drivers would be permitted to utilize a 5-cent piece to obtain 30 minutes' parking time, the legislation provides.

It also calls for a 5-cent hourly fee on the so-called "Ceramic Annex" parking lot which is

Pay Boosted In Palestine

East PALESTINE — Council Monday night adopted legislation granting a 10 per cent across - the - board wage increase to all city employes.

It will cost the city approximately $23,500 a year, with 50 employes affected.

The last increase to city employes was in June 1965, when the hikes were from 3 to 8 per cent. The minimum scale of $1.50 per hour for temporary labor now will rise to $1.65. The highest increase will be $70 a month for the safety - service director, who currently receives $696 a month.

Police will receive approximately $47 a month increases, making the chief's salary $525 monthly and patrolmen $475.

The increases were granted by Council in an attempt to ward off losing experienced men. Four city employes have left in the last six months for jobs in private industry.

The legislation was adopted as an emergency measure and will go into effect immediately.

Council asked the legislation be prepared authorizing the East Palestine Savings and Loan Association to erect a sidewalk exit to its building on N. Market St.

Council agreed to vacate a portion of Washington Alley to allow expansion of the Akenhead Dairy, an ice cream manufacturing plant.

Astronauts

struck by sickness, death and resignations at double the 10 per cent manpower loss rate officials say they had figured on. Three of 36 chosen earlier died in jet crashes, 2 resigned, and 3 were knocked off flying status by medical problems. Since the famed original seven Mercury astronauts were selected April 6, 1959, the United States added nine in 1952, Fourteen in 1963, and six scientist-astronauts in 1965.

With a breakneck pace in maned space exploration, the agency has found itself on the borderline of a pilot shortage. All but 5 of the 23 flight-qualified astronauts are assigned to a 1966 space flight, either as prime or back-up crewmen. One mission, Gemini 12, still lacks a crew.

For roles as astronauts, the space agency in choosing its newest group drew on test pilot instructors, their students and a physicist. All but two are married, and the average age is 32.8, ranging from 28 to 36.

Seven are Air Force officers, six Navy, two Marine Corps, and four civilians. This gave the Air Force an 18 to 17 edge over the Navy in team members while running the total to 12 civilians and 3 Marines.

The new astronauts, picked from 351 applicants, will report for duty at the Space Center early in May and begin training almost immediately. They are:

1. Vance D. Brand, 34, civilian, born Longmont, Colo.
2. Lt. John S. Bull, 31, Navy, born Memphis, Tenn.
3. Maj. Gerald P. Carr, 32, Marine, born Denver, Colo.
4. Capt. Charles M. Dukee Jr., 30, Air Force, born Charlotte, N.C.
5. Capt. Joe H. Engle, 33, Air Force, Born Abilene, Kan., project pilot for X15 rocket plane program, Edwards AFB.
6. Lt. Cmdr. Ronald E. Evans, 32, Navy, born St. Francis, Kan., presently on sea duty in the Pacific.
7. Maj. Edward G. Givens Jr., 36, Air Force, born Quanah, Tex., assigned to the Manned Spacecraft Center as project officer for the Gemini 9 space walk maneuvering unit.

Supreme Court Hears Counsel For White

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Counsel for William L. White of Mount Vernon argued in the Ohio Supreme Court today that his name should go on primary election ballots as an opponent of Gov. James A. Rhodes for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The court did not indicate when it would act on White's suit following his rejection as a candidate by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown. Brown said White's petitions were insufficient.

appealing to the people to be calm and for soldiers and civil servants who have been taking part in antigovernment demonstrations to return to their homes or their military stations.

Gen. Thi did not attend the meeting between Ky and Chuang.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon said the grave political crisis was having no effect on the war against the Viet Cong, that "patrols are going out as usual, even in the 1st Corps." U.S. troops reported only light, sporadic contact with the enemy, but the South Vietnamese claimed at least 83 Viet Cong killed on a reconnaissance mission in the Mekong Delta southwest of Saigon.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 65 missions against North Viet Nam Monday and hit the main rail line northeast from Hanoi to Red China for the first time since the bombing pause ended Jan. 31.

Most attacks since then have been against communication routes and facilities in the southern part of North Viet Nam, to hamper the flow of men and material to the Viet Cong in the south.

Few details on Ky's talks with Chuan filtered out of the Da Nang base. But it was reported that pro-government Vietnamese marines flown to Da Nang during the night would remain on the base to "provide security" and would not attempt to move into the city of Da Nang.

Thousands of U.S. Marines and loyal government troops ringed the sprawling Da Nang base as Chuan came for the meeting. Rebel forces dug in with machine guns along the two main roads from the base into Da Nang.

Anti-Ky officers expressed confidence they could throw back any assault by government troops trying to restore the authority of the U.S.-backed military regime in South Viet Nam's second largest city.

Ky, beset by his worst political crisis since the 36-year-old air force commander became premier last June, arrived at the Da Nang base after six U.S. Air Force C130 transports brought 1,300 Vietnamese marines from Saigon. Other American planes stood by to airlift more loyal troops to the dissident north. The Da Nang air base was put on a red — or combat — alert.

U.S. officials hoped the meeting between Ky and Chuan would lead to a negotiated settlement. But Ky faced an uphill fight in trying to win back the loyalties of military men spurred on by antigovernment, anti-American demonstrators in half a dozen cities.

Chuan is the successor to popular Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, whose ouster as commander of the northernmost 1st Corps March 10 brought on the nationwide protests. Although appointed by the Saigon junta, Chuan has done nothing to check the antigovernment movement in his area.

Another demonstration broke out in Saigon after the nighttime curfew ordered Monday. About 500 youths surged out of the main Buddhist headquarters and marched to the headquarters of a militant student's organization, waving banners demanding the overthrow of the government and criticizing U.S. support of Ky's government. Once they were inside the building, riot police fired tear gas each time they tried to come out.

Tornado

and serious damage was inflicted by tornadic winds on at least 30 homes in southeast Lakeland.

Miraculously only six persons were killed in and around Lakeland.

Civil Defense Director G. Wes Gunn said a first-day survey showed total property damage in Polk County will exceed $20 million.

"It was really a miracle we didn't have more people killed," said Sherwood D. Smith, administrator of Lakeland General Hospital, largest in the county. He said about 60 persons came in for treatment in the first two hours — between 9 and 11 a.m. Monday — beginning with a bus load of students from Lakeland's Southwest Junior High School.

The Red Cross placed in 25 rooms of a Lakeland hotel injured persons who did not need to be hospitalized.

"Things happened so fast I didn't realize what was going on," said William Turner, 56. "In a couple of minutes it was all over."

Turner was inside his home. The house was damaged but was one of the few not destroyed in a North Lakeland development.

"There was a terrible noise," Turner said. "It sounded like my house was going to take off. My three grandchildern and one of their friends screamed but I could hardly hear them."

At the big missile center, there was only slight damage. Three workers received minor injuries and launching of the orbiting astronomical observatory was postponed.

At Cocoa, which adjoins Cape Kennedy, the Red Cross said 133 persons received hospitaltreatment. Fifty trailers were destroyed and 75 to 100 damaged, along with 23 homes and a shopping center.

Some citrus groves in the Lakeland area were destroyed as winds stripped the trees and left the ground yellow with fruit. However, Robert W. Rutledge, executive vice president of Florida Citrus Mutual, said the loss would be minor.

At least 10,000 homes in the Tampa-Lakeland area were without telephone service and 22,000 Tampa homes had no electricity. Many other areas were similarly affected, including Brandon, Dade City and northern Polk County. The tornado killed three persons in Tampa.

Purdue Coed, 22, Dies In 10-Story Plunge

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue University graduate student Judith C. Koestner, 22, of North Canton, Ohio, was found outside her dormitory residence Monday fatally injured from what was believed a 10-story suicide plunge.

The student died several hours after an employe of the dormitory found her. The coroner ruled "apparent suicide" although it was not immediately determined if she leaped from her window. Judith was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josef Koestner.

Subjects which have received a significant boost in daily newspaper coverage since October, 1957, when the first Sputnik was launched are, first, space news; second, medicine; and third, agriculture, according to a recent survey conducted by the New York University Department of Journalism.

Astronauts

struck by sickness, death and resignations at double the 10 per cent manpower loss rate officials say they had figured on. Three of 36 chosen earlier died in jet crashes, 2 resigned, and 3 were knocked off flying status by medical problems. Since the famed original seven Mercury astronauts were selected April 6, 1959, the United States added nine in 1952, Fourteen in 1963, and six scientist-astronauts in 1965.

With a breakneck pace in maned space exploration, the agency has found itself on the borderline of a pilot shortage. All but 5 of the 23 flight-qualified astronauts are assigned to a 1966 space flight, either as prime or back-up crewmen. One mission, Gemini 12, still lacks a crew.

For roles as astronauts, the space agency in choosing its newest group drew on test pilot instructors, their students and a physicist. All but two are married, and the average age is 32.8, ranging from 28 to 36.

Seven are Air Force officers, six Navy, two Marine Corps, and four civilians. This gave the Air Force an 18 to 17 edge over the Navy in team members while running the total to 12 civilians and 3 Marines.

The new astronauts, picked from 351 applicants, will report for duty at the Space Center early in May and begin training almost immediately. They are:

1. Vance D. Brand, 34, civilian, born Longmont, Colo.

2. Lt. John S. Bull, 31, Navy, born Memphis, Tenn.

3. Maj. Gerald P. Carr, 32, Marine, born Denver, Colo.

When The Rain Begins

The next low blow in a disorderly war that causes every assault by the enemy to be referred to as a "sneak attack" is about to be struck. It's monsoon season again.

The weather is about to turn against the United States. It is the same monsoon weather that makes life miserable for the natives of Viet Nam, but that will not be referred to in official dispatches.

Perhaps it really shouldn't be referred to, because the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese fighting men have no air force, and it is aerial warfare that suffers most when the rains begin. From the end of this month until next fall, the United States will be fighting with its air arm tied behind it.

U. S. foot soldiers can muck through swamps and marshes at no heavier disadvantage than their counterparts in enemy forces. Tanks get mired, to be sure, but there has been no important evidence that U. S. tanks have been bringing much leverage to bear against an enemy who fights and runs away.

Disease, on the other hand, heavily afflicts Americans in Viet Nam. U. S. personnel have been peculiarly susceptible to drug-resistant malaria, because they lack the immunity built up among natives who have survived malaria and all other indigenous health hazards in one of the world's most disease-ridden areas.

The monsoon tests the morale of the fighting men. Here again, the handicap on outsiders will be heavier. They are hoping to get the war finished so they can go home. They are impatient.

The Vietnamese, on the otherhand, are infinitely patient; they can afford to be. They aren't expecting to go anywhere. They are where they always intend to be. When this monsoon and the next one and the next one are over, they will still be in Viet Nam if they survive.

They must wonder when the rain begins and the water rises how outsiders impatient to go home anyway, can stand it.

An Old Familiar Question

Funsters in Washington have been laughing about our government's recent discovery of the Chinese People's Republic. If there are elements of humor in discovering 800 million human beings living under a government whose existence the United States doesn't recognize, it should be almost as funny that Washington suddenly has learned the U.S. consumer needs to be protected against the world's highest standard of living.

He deserved to have more cornflakes in the cereal box, more mileage and safety in his auto tires, more resilience in his cars, more curative power in his drugs.

The way he has been shoved from pillar to post, according to his new-found guardians, would be a disgrace to a sneak thief in Shanghai. To hear these newly solicitous bureaucrats talk about the U. S. consumer, there has been a national scandal going on under the noses of defenders of the free market economy.

Disregarding the evidence that somebody must have been doing something right to get us where we are today, these compulsive champions of American consumers talk as if it's a miracle we survived. The champions imply that if they had been in charge, instead of crassly commercial people taking their chances in a free market, everybody would be better off.

It makes you wonder.

Who are these Solomons of the marketplace that they know what kind of autos should be made, how much fish should be packed in a can, whether the salve we use cures anything and what should be acknowledged publicly as a possible consequence of smoking cigarettes?

Who is to stamp the great seal of bureaucratic approval on products offered for sale?

Granted that standards must be established and maintained in some areas of free enterprise, to keep chiselers from undercutting decency, shouldn't standards apply also to bureaucrats?

Who are these geniuses who profess to know more about what we want and need than we know ourselves — we who have attained the world's highest standard of living by keeping people like them at a safe distance?

A Flaw In The Image

Official spokesmen are being hearty and hopeful about this latest flaw in the image of South Viet Nam as a brave little republic striving to maintain freedom in the face of Communist adversity.

This is the role the spokesmen are expected to play, just as it is Defense Secretary McNamara's role always to insist that the war against the enemy in South Viet Nam is going well . . . not splendidly . . . but at least the United States has quit losing it, which was what was happening while image-makers were telling the American people their troops were winning it.

The latest setback is another outbreak of the South Viet Nam government's chronic embarrassment—the fact the South Vietnamese are more embroiled in their own internal animosities than in any animosity against the Viet Cong.

The image-makers have rejected scornfully the suggestion that the United States fumbled its way into a Vietnamese civil war when it interceded against the Viet Cong. They deny that the Viet Cong is entitled to any identity other than that of Communist-bossed enemy.

But even if the Viet Cong could be clearly identified as an invader, there are other internecine wars in Viet Nam that have raged a long time. They are between Buddhists and Catholics, believers in strong government and moderate government, military rule and civilian rule.

The United States is embroiled in them and has much at stake in the outcome.

This is not the fault of the United States, nor of South Viet Nam. But it pretty well disposes of the rosy illusion that the South Vietnamese are standing shoulder to shoulder in defense of freedom from outside oppression.

Many of them would rather fight each other than an outside foe, even if the outside foe could be spotted as an outsider.

Keep It On The Rare Side

The anti-inflation campaign came to a sudden stop in Los Angeles last week when two baseball pitchers, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, signed contracts with the Los Angeles Dodgers for a combined total of "more than $210,000."

The two-way split is relatively unimportant. What is important is that these two talented pitchers by bargaining as a team, instead of as individuals, will be earning more money than any other two players have earned on the same team in the history of baseball.

It is important to understand why.

No other two pitchers extant at this time can draw more customers through the turnstiles. They have the rare talent of being able to do their jobs so well that hundreds of thousands of their fellow countrymen will pay to watch them. That's the secret of show business, and baseball is show business.

It's the secret of being able to stop the anti-Inflation campaign in its tracks. Be a 20-game winner in baseball. Be a star in football. Sing like a bird and look like an angel. Sing like a bluejay and look like a turkey buzzard.

But don't work by the hour, the week or the month, or you'll be expected to fight inflation—3.2 percentage points at a time.

Apple Carts

By Truman Twill

Are the young taking control of society before they know what it's all about? Are they shocking the socks off us oldsters to show contempt for values they aren't old enough to understand?

Pope Paul VI says he is worried about this. The rest of us are, too. Much as we love and admire the rising generation, we wonder if it's really the hope of the world when it wastes its energy on twaddle and threatens its well-being with bad health practices.

Civilization always has been saved by its own highest types, despite the handicap of the inferiors who threatened to drag it down. But we do wonder sometimes whether dragger-downers are growing more numerous and lifter-uppers fewer and less determined.

The Pope says society once directed the young but now it is the young who have the stronger voice—"and thus we have the spectacle of youths who are handsome, strong, idealistic, hopeful, aware of society and life but who are attracted to futility, to foolishness, to things of little importance . . . They think they are authorized to pronounce themselves on everything, even those things they do not know about and which they do not yet know how to appreciate and value."

Is there more of this going on now than is normal—more than there should be? And if there is — if Pope Paul is right—what's behind it?

Could it be that two world wars in the first half of this century and the prospect of a third that might wipe out mankind, together with large-scale fighting in Korea and Viet Nam and ghastly blood-letting in the Congo, South Africa and the former Confederacy in the United States have undermined confidence in "values" cherished by a generation in charge of saving the status quo?

Could it be that young people hearing about recent history haven't found much in it worth saving? Could it be that the beaten path has been made to look like a highway to disaster by a generation aware of what happened to those who recently passed that way?

Whatever it is, we know this:

That trying to tell young ones what was good enough for grandpa should be good enough for them is futile. They don't think it was good enough for grandpa. They don't think it was good enough for their own parents. And they are sure it isn't good enough for them.

So they don't know what is good for them; they aren't old enough. Wait until they have grown up, then they'll see.

But they aren't about to wait. They may be running amuck, but they're running. Pope Paul is concerned. We're all concerned. All we dare hope for is that the highest types among them finally will think of something better to do than upset all the applecarts in sight.

That's all we ever have dared to hope for from the upsetters of apple carts. The only difference is there are more applecarts than there used to be. The upsetting of some of them admittedly was overdue. They were not worth saving.

The latest two Popes, Paul VI and John XXIII, have had a good deal to do with that acknowledgment, themselves.

Babysitting Can Be Discouraging

Labor Civil War Hit Public

By Victor Riesel

No labor leader really has it made until he has positioned a president of the U.S.

One formula is to choke up a city, or close down the waterfronts; or hush hundreds of giant mills; or ground national airlines (as they will be soon); or paralyze some railroads.

Victor Riesel

This is how you make instant giant.

The President telephones Labor Secretary Wirtz. Wearily, the latter talks to Assistant Secretary Jim Reynolds, who makes the call for the White House. The appointment with the President is set.

A military airplane is proffered. Word gets about that the labor chief now is big man on the campus, important enough to talk to the President.

In part, this is the story of a virtually unknown labor leader, H. E. Gilbert, whose Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen is being automated and Dieselized out of existence.

EVERYBODY KNOWS there was a guerrilla strike of eight railroads, which were hit by the new tactic of pre-dawn walkouts which stalled the public, the mails and war materiel shipments to Viet Nam. But very few know of the inter-union warfare, which I believe is truly the story of Mr. Gilbert's desperation.

This feud flares between two unions which really should be one—Mr. Gilbert's Firemen and the nation's oldest labor organization, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The Locomotive Engineers are flourishing because they "pull" the trains. The firemen are not because they are about as necessary on the new oil fuel Diesel train engines as a white Palm Beach suit on the old cowboy-and-Indian-era, coal-burning iron horse.

So Mr. Gilbert's union, once 80,000 strong, now is down to some 64,500. As more and more firemen are laid off, the union will less and less be able to maintain itself as a major organization. This means having a complement of some 48 "legislative representatives" in state capitals, a Washington lobby, a blue-ribbon legal firm, full publicity staff, researchers, and a bevy of vice presidents, not to mention a hectic national office.

AS IT LOSES MEMBERS, the Firemen's Union loses income and thus its power base, as it's forced to cut its ambassadorial establishment.

The vision of what happened to the Switchmen's Union of North America is constantly before Mr. Gilbert. It had no real power base and gradually dwindled so that it is virtually non-existent in the East and there is no trumpeting when its leaders come and go.

So Mr. Gilbert had a thought. If his union is destined to see the locomotive firemen unhappily heading for the Smithsonian, why not fill their empty places on the union roster with locomotive engineers?

So he has been futilely demanding that the railroads work out an apprentice system with his union. Only instead of really apprenticing to become what soon will be non-existent firemen stoking non-existent coal into an automated oil burner, the apprentices could really become locomotive engineers after a while.

THUS HIS BROTHERHOOD could revive its strength with a new army of locomotive engineers.

Only trouble with this dexterous solution is that there already is a Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. And its grand chief engineer (that's his title), P.S. Heath, does not take kindly to Mr. Gilbert's suggestions that some engine drivers be in another union.

So Brother Heath calls Brother Gilbert "comic and snide." In turn, Mr. Gilbert's colleagues fraternally accuse Grand Chief Heath of taking "Judas money" by accepting higher wages for his members from the very same railroads which are laying off the firemen. There are such gallant exchanges as references to "so-called labor leaders."

So with the government against him, and the courts and the other rail unions not too happy with him, Mr.Gilbert did what comes naturally. He struck before dawn for the apprentice system.

Of course, he sent word that he wanted to discuss this with the President of the U.S.

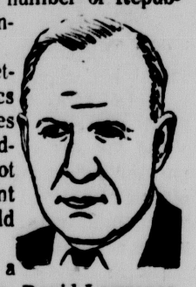
Confused GOP

By David Lawrence

Republicans Forget Tested Strategy

Republican leaders seem to be rather confused as to what their strategy should be in seeking the support of the American people for a substantial increase in the number of Republicans to be elected to Congress in November.



David Lawrence

The Republicans are forgetting the oldest rule of politics —to expose fully the mistakes and shortcomings of an administration in power and not worry about the argument that alternative policies should be presented.

Again and again, when a majority in the House of Representatives has been overturned, there has been little, if anything, said about specific proposals to replace the policies of an incumbent administration. The emphasis has been primarily on the failures of the party in office.

There are always those voters who ask during a campaign: "If you are elected, what will you do?" The traditional answer has been: "Elect us, and we'll clean house and do what ought to be done."

This strategy has worked over and over again because it tends to mobilize the current discontent and forms a massive opposition vote. It's successful largely because the minority party hasn't had the responsibility for making policies and cannot be blamed for things that go wrong, particularly in the handling of the executive branch of the government.

THE REPUBLICANS today can point to the overwhelming majority which the Democratic party has in both houses of Congress and can argue that the party members have pursued a "rubber stamp" rather than an independent course.

The Republicans can criticize the behavior of the Democrats in Congress and endeavor to show that in vote after vote, especially on domestic questions, they have followed the administration's commands rather than the viewpoint of their constituents.

The high cost of living is an issue with far-reaching impact in political campaigns. The average citizen isn't concerned about the "new economics" or the dialogue about the nature of the inflation. All he knows is that his dollar isn't buying as much as it did and that prices are steadily going up.

As for the war in Viet Nam, some of the Republican leaders pride themselves on the fact that they have supported the administration's objectives. This has been given more prominence than criticism of the alleged inefficiency of the Pentagon and the reported interference by civilian officails with the military commanders, as disclosed in congressional committee hearings.

The Republicans know that the Viet Nam War is unpopular and that many families with sons of military age probably would like to see the conflict terminated by any means. The words "negotiation" and "compromise" are in the air.

FROM A POLITICAL POINT of view, it's not necessary to back any specific terms for a solution but only to declare abstractly that a Republican majority doesn't favor surrender and wants a more positive program to enlist the military aid of other nations supposedly allied with us.

Details of military strategy, such as suggestions for bombing certain areas or blockading certain ports, are not fit subjects for political debate.

Whether it is desirable or even justified, Viet Nam is going to be an issue in November, just as Korea was in the 1952 presidential election. There comes a time when the electorate gets tired of long wars and decides to let the other political party try its hand. The theory is that matters cannot get much worse and they might even get better, especially if the enemy is persuaded that a firm and vigorous use of military power is to replace a drifting policy.

POLITICS IS CONCERNED with emotional as well as economic questions. The dissent on the Viet Nam War is emotional, and the discontent over the cost of living and the continuing rage over figures in the budget constitutes an economic issue of major importance.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

About a week ago there was an article in the paper about putting 10-cent meters in East Liverpool.

I think it's a disgrace. They're thinking about 10-cent meters, but nobody suggests lowering the price of a parking ticket. In Lisbon, a few years ago, I received a parking ticket and the fine was only 25 cents, which I think is plenty.

But in Liverpool you pay three times as much —and $2 if not paid within 24 hours. I don't have that much against parking meters. They're just getting too expensive to operate.

Business slowly is leaving East Liverpool not only because of cheaper prices but because of free parking — and plenty of it. You can shop all day if you want and park for nothing.

Whenever you are shopping, who wants to run to a meter every hour and deposit money for fear of receiving a $1 ticket?

If the merchants of Liverpool would get together and fight this meter situation maybe people wouldn't patronize the shopping centers where they have banned meters. I always thought it would be wonderful if they would have free parking, if it were only for a few hours, at the Christmas holiday season. But don't ever look for that to happen because that's when they haul in the money for meters and parking tickets. So I don't blame anyone for shopping where there is free parking.

When The Rain Begins

The next low blow in a disorderly war that causes every assault by the enemy to be referred to as a "sneak attack" is about to be struck. It's monsoon season again.

The weather is about to turn against the United States. It is the same monsoon weather that makes life miserable for the natives of Viet Nam, but that will not be referred to in official dispatches.

Perhaps it really shouldn't be referred to, because the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese fighting men have no air force, and it is aerial warfare that suffers most when the rains begin. From the end of this month until next fall, the United States will be fighting with its air arm tied behind it.

U. S. foot soldiers can muck through swamps and marshes at no heavier disadvantage than their counterparts in enemy forces. Tanks get mired, to be sure, but there has been no important evidence that U. S. tanks have been bringing much leverage to bear against an enemy who fights and runs away.

Disease, on the other hand, heavily afflicts Americans in Viet Nam. U. S. personnel have been peculiarly susceptible to drug-resistant malaria, because they lack the immunity built up among natives who have survived malaria and all other indigenous health hazards in one of the world's most disease-ridden areas.

The monsoon tests the morale of the fighting men. Here again, the handicap on outsiders will be heavier. They are hoping to get the war finished so they can go home. They are impatient.

The Vietnamese, on the otherhand, are infinitely patient; they can afford to be. They aren't expecting to go anywhere. They are where they always intend to be. When this monsoon and the next one and the next one are over, they will still be in Viet Nam if they survive.

They must wonder when the rain begins and the water rises how outsiders impatient to go home anyway, can stand it.

An Old Familiar Question

Funsters in Washington have been laughing about our government's recent discovery of the Chinese People's Republic. If there are elements of humor in discovering 800 million human beings living under a government whose existence the United States doesn't recognize, it should be almost as funny that Washington suddenly has learned the U.S. consumer needs to be protected against the world's highest standard of living.

He deserved to have more cornflakes in the cereal box, more mileage and safety in his auto tires, more resilience in his cars, more curative power in his drugs.

The way he has been shoved from pillar to post, according to his new-found guardians, would be a disgrace to a sneak thief in Shanghai. To hear these newly solicitous bureaucrats talk about the U. S. consumer, there has been a national scandal going on under the noses of defenders of the free market economy.

Disregarding the evidence that somebody must have been doing something right to get us where we are today, these compulsive champions of American consumers talk as if it's a miracle we survived. The champions imply that if they had been in charge, instead of crassly commercial people taking their chances in a free market, everybody would be better off.

It makes you wonder.

Who are these Solomons of the marketplace that they know what kind of autos should be made, how much fish should be packed in a can, whether the salve we use cures anything and what should be acknowledged publicly as a possible consequence of smoking cigarettes?

Who is to stamp the great seal of bureaucratic approval on products offered for sale?

Granted that standards must be established and maintained in some areas of free enterprise, to keep chiselers from undercutting decency, shouldn't standards apply also to bureaucrats?

Who are these geniuses who profess to know more about what we want and need than we know ourselves — we who have attained the world's highest standard of living by keeping people like them at a safe distance?

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

About a week ago there was an article in the paper about putting 10-cent meters in East Liverpool.

I think it's a disgrace. They're thinking about 10-cent meters, but nobody suggests lowering the price of a parking ticket. In Lisbon, a few years ago, I received a parking ticket and the fine was only 25 cents, which I think is plenty.

But in Liverpool you pay three times as much —and $2 if not paid within 24 hours. I don't have that much against parking meters. They're just getting too expensive to operate.

Business slowly is leaving East Liverpool not only because of cheaper prices but because of free parking — and plenty of it. You can shop all day if you want and park for nothing.

Whenever you are shopping, who wants to run to a meter every hour and deposit money for fear of receiving a $1 ticket?

If the merchants of Liverpool would get together and fight this meter situation maybe people wouldn't patronize the shopping centers where they have banned meters. I always thought it would be wonderful if they would have free parking, if it were only for a few hours, at the Christmas holiday season. But don't ever look for that to happen because that's when they haul in the money for meters and parking tickets. So I don't blame anyone for shopping where there is free parking.

Kosygin Sets 5-Year Plan On Economy

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today outlined a five-year economic plan based on peace abroad to concentrate on economic growth at home.

He issued a veiled appeal to the United States to cooperate in cutting the arms race and pushing on with economic competition. He also assailed former Premier Nikita Khruschchev for setting "economically unjustable targets" in the previous plan.

"A new world war can be and must be prevented," he told 6,000 Soviet and foreign Communist delegates to the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist party in the Kremlin.

Kosygin said the international situation has a key influence on plans for Soviet economic growth.

"We have said repeatedly and say again that we consider the arms race, which the imperialist powers, notably the U.S.A., have imposed upon mankind, as harmful and dangerous."

The Soviet premier took a tough stand on Viet Nam, denouncing the U.S. role there.

"The war in Viet Nam served as a new pretect for launching a new armaments drive in the United States," he said.

Kosygin reiterated that the Soviet Union is rendering and will render all necessary assistance to Vietnamese communists.

now under construction between E. 3rd St. and Church Alley.

The legislation also would implement a parking token plan suggested by the East Liverpool Merchants Association as a way for businessmen to pay meter charges for their customers. The ordinance would allow insertion of the ELMA tokens in lieu of U. S. coins to buy parking time.

The ELMA plan contemplates that the city would buy the tokens, then sell them to the merchants at face value. The businessmen would distribute the tokens to customers. When they turned up in the meter collections, the tokens would be redeemed again by the businessmen on a rotating plan.

The legislation spells out three time zones for meter operations. In one area, the maximum parking time would be one hour; in another, two hours, and in the third, four hours.

Council discussed the ordinance briefly in its caucus session, but decided to take no action to allow members further time for study of the provisions.

Councilman Floyd Murray read an editorial from a Colorado paper discussing the relative merits of various types of meters and asserting that a city's meter receipts do not necessarily go up 100 per cent even though the charge for parking is doubled.

Residents of the Southern Mediterranean and Near East regions are the biggest bread eaters in the world. A recent survey by the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization showed that, in this area, bread supplies 300 million people with 50 per cent of both calories and proteins.

After Whalen Resigns

4 Applications Reported For County College Post

LISBON — The board of trustees of the proposed Columbiana County Community College has four applications for the post of president - planning director, it was reported at a meeting Monday night.

Chairman Don R. Gosney, who presided at the meeting in the Farmers National Bank offices of the college, said applications still are being accepted for the post from which Dr. Richard Whalen has resigned.

Gosney said the board last night accepted the written resignation, effective Wednesday, from the former Illinois educator, who said he did not receive cooperation from school officials at East Liverpool and Salem.

Gosney said Whalen declared he felt the college will be granted a charter, and still feels it is needed in the county.

Dr. Whalen, questioned this morning as to his reasons for leaving, said he preferred not to comment.

He did explain, however, it was not because of rudeness on the part of people in the county. He said he plans to go to Baton Rouge, La., and enter business.

In a letter which he released to the Lisbon Journal today, Dr. Whalen had this to say:

"On April 4, 1966, your paper carried an article supposedly quoting the reasons I resigned as planning director and president-elect of the proposed Columbiana County Community College District, but was very much in error as to the reason.

"I would not leave a position simply because someone at sometime was rude to me, because there are always those kind of people in all communities who are rude to almost everyone, including themselves.

"I have received as nice a treatment in this county as I have in other sections of the country, and further, I have found people in this greater community particularly nice.

"I have never before in my life written a note to a publication criticizing anything in print, but I felt the people in this county deserve to know it was not because of any of them that I resigned.

"I would appreciate these sentiments being expressed, along with one other—it is my fondest dream that this community college materializes because it will be the youth of your county that will have to pay the penalty if it does not."

Whalen, 44, was retained in January with the understandstanding he would become the college president when it received a charter from the Ohio Board of Regents. He had been president of Black Hawk Junior College, which he established in Moline, Ill., in 1960.

Gosney said the trustees last night furthered their work on completion of a master plan for the college.

He said a new planning director - president may be named in two or three weeks. The office in the bank building will be staffed and kept open, he said.

The trustees will meet in special session some time next week, he added.

"This is basically a South Vietnamese problem," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Monday after a closed-door report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The State Department did express support for an early start on the process of constitution-making for South Viet Nam. Ky now presides at the head of a military government. The Honolulu declaration pledged the formation of a democratic constitution.

Rusk has said the generals probably will remain in control until a new constitutional government is created.

The State Department said the Communists were exploiting the civilian discord.

Negroes Refuse To Move Without Funds Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi Negroes camped in tents in a park across the street from the White House refused to budge today without first being promised $1.3 million antipoverty funds for housing and education.

"Unless we can get a commitment from them that they're going to fund our projects, we'll stay here," said Frank Smith, leader of the group of 90 that pitched four tents in Lafayette Park Sunday.

A spokesman for the Office of Economic Opportunity said technicians would be sent to Mississippi with the campers to help them rework their applications for federal aid. The Negroes, mostly ex-farmhands and sharecroppers, want to build about 300 low-cost homes and set up job training projects in three Mississippi counties.

The campers came to Washington Thursday to plead their case before Congress and confer with OEO officials.

3 Are Selected For Examination Of Mrs. Zlatovich

Beaver County Court has appointed a three-member sanity committee to examine Mrs. Mary Zlatovich, an Ohioville housewife who is charged with the slaying of four of her five children ages 2 to 5 while they slept in their home July 30, 1964.

The committee members are Dr. Robert A. Yee of the Beaver County Mental Hygiene Clinic, Dr. E. Joseph Charney of the West Penn Psychiatric Institute and Clinic and Atty. Samuel E. Holland of Beaver.

Mrs. Zlatovich was returned to Beaver Friday after Dixmont State Hospital authorities said she was well enough to stand trial for the slayings.

Beaver County district attorney, Robert J. Masters, requested a committee be appointed to examine her before he disposed of the charges.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is ill with flu and has been ordered to take a complete rest for two days, a government official said today.

LONDON (AP) — Peter Townsend, the handsome fromer airman who wooed but lost Princess Margaret, plans to return to Britain to live with his Belgian wife and three children.

Townsend, 51, will work for a London public relations firm beginning April 13.

Not since 1953 when he met Margaret while an officer in the Royal Air Force has he lived in London. Because Townsend was a divorcee, Buckingham Palace discouraged his romnace with Margaret.

She announced that she would not marry Townsend in 1955. Five years later she was wed to Anthony Armstrong-Jones, now the Earl of Snowdon.

After the romance had ended, Townsend told a reporter: "I will never return to Britain. Never."

NEW YORK (AP) — It wasn't the kind of question one would expect from a high school journalist.

Mayor John V. Lindsay had asked the city's high school editors to gather at a news conference Monday and give their views on how the school dropout problem might be curbed.

Louise E. Katzman, 16, one of 150 student journalists, asked:

"Mr. Lindsay, why don't you permit your own children to attend public schools instead of private schools?"

Before the mayor could answer, schools superintendent Bernard E. Donovan replied: "We say pupils should stay in school wherever they are. It doesn't have to be any particular school."

All four of the mayor's children are enrolled in private schools.

During 7-Hour Hearing

No Bias In Cleveland's Housing, Witnesses Say

CLEVELAND (AP)—There is no racial discrimination in Cleveland's public housing, a U.S. Commission on Civil Rights was told during a seven-hour hearing Monday.

Also, witnesses told the commission that housing code enforcement in the University-Euclid Renewal Area had been stopped for more than three years.

Ernest J. Bohn, director of the Cleveland Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA), told the commission, investigating Negro problems here, there is no discrimination in public housing in Cleveland and that one remaining all-white housing project soon will have Negro residents.

A commission staff member said investigation into Cleveland's 11 public housing projects prior to the current hearings showed that 81 per cent of the Negroes in public housing are concentrated in three projects.

Bayla White, a staff worker, testified that no Negroes have been offered space in Riverside project on the far West Side of Cleveland—an area described as traditionally all-white.

Bohn said many Negroes had been offered apartments in Riverview on the near West Side, but turned them down. He said Negroes were not "offered apartments in Riverside since so many refused" apartments in Riverview.

Bohn said there is a steady increase in Negro occupancy of predominantly white projects.

Charles L. Sheboy, Cleveland housing commissioner, told the commission about the University-Euclid policy, which affects the blighted Hough area, a predominantly Negro part of the city.

Sheboy testified that under a policy set up by city hall, housing code violations involving Hough area landlords were directed to the Urban Renewal Department. He said if the landlord was "recalcitrant" the violation was referred by urban renewal officials to housing officials and then to the city law department for warrants.

Under questioning, James P. Friedman, commissioner of urban renewal, said he and others in his department are responsible for a change in policy in the University-Euclid area. He told the commission that the former policy was established before he took over from James M. Lister, who recently resigned.

Friedman said that the area had deteriorated "since 1962 when the policy went into effect. I have an inkling that active code enforcement might interfere with later acquisition."

He said that better housing would cost the city higher prices when it wants to purchase the properties for the urban renewal project.

The commission will meet Wednesday to discuss employment and will hold its last session Thursday to discuss police-community relations.

During 7-Hour Hearing

No Bias In Cleveland's Housing, Witnesses Say

CLEVELAND (AP)—There is no racial discrimination in Cleveland's public housing, a U.S. Commission on Civil Rights was told during a seven-hour hearing Monday.

Also, witnesses told the commission that housing code enforcement in the University-Euclid Renewal Area had been stopped for more than three years.

Ernest J. Bohn, director of the Cleveland Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA), told the commission, investigating Negro problems here, there is no discrimination in public housing in Cleveland and that one remaining all-white housing project soon will have Negro residents.

A commission staff member said investigation into Cleveland's 11 public housing projects prior to the current hearings showed that 81 per cent of the Negroes in public housing are concentrated in three projects.

Bayla White, a staff worker, testified that no Negroes have been offered space in Riverside project on the far West Side of Cleveland—an area described as traditionally all-white.

Bohn said many Negroes had been offered apartments in Riverview on the near West Side, but turned them down. He said Negroes were not "offered apartments in Riverside since so many refused" apartments in Riverview.

Bohn said there is a steady increase in Negro occupancy of predominantly white projects.

Charles L. Sheboy, Cleveland housing commissioner, told the commission about the University-Euclid policy, which affects the blighted Hough area, a predominantly Negro part of the city.

Sheboy testified that under a policy set up by city hall, housing code violations involving Hough area landlords were directed to the Urban Renewal Department. He said if the landlord was "recalcitrant" the violation was referred by urban renewal officials to housing officials and then to the city law department for warrants.

Under questioning, James P. Friedman, commissioner of urban renewal, said he and others in his department are responsible for a change in policy in the University-Euclid area. He told the commission that the former policy was established before he took over from James M. Lister, who recently resigned.

Friedman said that the area had deteriorated "since 1962 when the policy went into effect. I have an inkling that active code enforcement might interfere with later acquisition."

He said that better housing would cost the city higher prices when it wants to purchase the properties for the urban renewal project.

The commission will meet Wednesday to discuss employment and will hold its last session Thursday to discuss police-community relations.

Grand Jury Action Due

Man Bound Over In Weir Slaying

Conrad John Pesyna, 26, accused slayer of a Weirton housewife, was ordered bound over to the April term of the grand jury Monday afternoon.

The order was delivered in Weirton Municipal Court after witnesses testified that Pesyna, of Steubenville, knew 33-year-old Mrs. Mary Lou Davies and that he was in Weirton early on the day her stabbed body was found.

The nude body of Mrs. Davies, mother of three, was discovered early on March 31 in the living room of her home by her 10-year-old son.

Police officers testified yesterday that Pesyna had blood on his T-shirt and that there was blood in his car when they arrested him at home later March 31. It was not determined, however, if the blood matched Mrs. Davies' type.

Officers also testified that they found a bread knife and paring knife at Pesyna's home at the time of his arrest. Both knives had blood on them, according to a policeman's testimony.

Pesyna was ordered held in Hancock County jail without bond pending action by the grand jury, which is scheduled to convene April 12.

Police Given Report On Parked Car Case

A Wellsville woman told police she was the driver of an auto which apparently damaged the front of a Wellsville area man's car Monday night on E. 4th St.

Maxine Brown of 315 2nd St., Wellsville, told Patrolman Karl W. Samples that she had "hooked" another car, but did no damage and left.

Clarence Ammon of Yeager Dr., Wellsville, reported to police at 7:20 p. m. that he found the grille and fender of his car damaged while it was parked on E. 4th St. near Crook Alley.

Ammon said a witness, identified as Tom Bender of St. Clair Ave., furnished him with the registration of the other car. Ammon said he was told the woman backed into his auto and then drove away.

Mrs. John L. Kloss, 706 Morton St., reported to police Monday afternoon that she found some one had struck the rear of her car while it was parked on Avondale St.

Disabled, Absentee Applications Issued

The County Election Board began issuing applications Monday for disabled and absentee voters for the May 3 primaries.

A Columbiana resident was the first to cast an absentee ballot, marking the ballot at the board's office. One serviceman already has voted the so - called soldier's ballot for military personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the U. S.

The absentee and disabled ballots will be issued until 4 p.m. April 28 and must be back in the board's office by noon April 19 in order to be counted at the polls, the board said.

The fender of a convertible was damaged late Monday morning when struck by a backing auto on the A. & P. parking lot, police were told.

Robert J. Christian, 24, of 918 Riley Ave. said he was driving through the lot when his convertible was struck by a backing car operated by Stewart A. Buzzard, 22, of 108 Pink Alley.

Continuing Contracts Given To 13 Teachers

They are Mrs. Evelyn Bibbee, Mrs. Donna Campbell, Mrs. Wanda Greenwood, Mrs. Kathleen R. Kelly, Mrs. Ruth Kincaid, Mrs. Dorothy Lynch, Mrs. Doris McIntosh, Mrs. Elizabeth Steiner, Mrs. Deredreth Wilson, Mrs. Rosalie Spencer, Mrs. Frances Thomas, Phillip Lee Hunt and James Gordon.

Supt. Paul H. Blair explained that Mrs. Steiner and Hunt formerly had continuing contracts, but left the system for a time and then returned.

Teachers with 8-year, professional or permanent certificates must be granted continuing contracts or tenure after being employed for three years, Blair explained. They may be dismissed only on grounds of gross inefficiency, gross neglect or gross immorality, he pointed out.

THE BOARD also accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Mildred Hawkins, a first-grade teacher at McKinley who will retire. Blair said Mrs. Hawkins has been an "outstanding teacher."

The board also approved Sunday, June 5, for baccalaureate exercises and Tuesday, June 7, for commencement.

It also gave formal approval of Sidney H. Paige, assistant vice president of the Crucible Steel Co., as the commencement speaker. As is customary, he will receive a $100 fee.

Questioned by Smith about the possibility of commencement exercises being held outdoors, Blair said the program is being considered, but cited the weather factor.

"As hot as it is in Memorial Auditorium, sitting through a rain couldn't be much worse," Smith commented.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk - treasurer, recalled an outdoor commencement was held at Patterson Field during the administration of Martin H. Essex.

The board authorized the Jaycees to use Memorial Auditorium on April 16 for a professional wrestling show, with the fee to be $100 plus custodial charges.

The Kiwanis Club was granted use of the Westgate cafeteria on April 23 for a pancake supper, with the fee to be $18 plus cafeteria help.

The Federation of Women's Clubs was authorized the use of Westgate auditorium on April 30 for its annual chlidren's play. The only fee will be for custodial services, since the federation uses the proceeds to purchase shoes for needy children.

THE BOARD adopted a resolution authorizing core borings at the Maine Blvd. site of the new senior high school and the North Side elementary school. Robert F. Beatty, architect, was to have presented a progress report last night, but was unable to attend because of illness.

The board also voted to send a letter to the Blue and White Nonpareil Club thanking it for the support it gives various athletic programs. Smith made the motion to send the letter.

In a brief discussion at the end of the meeting, Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, president, declared, "I can't see sending children home for two weeks for misbehavior."

Commenting on suspensions, Mrs. Dunlop said, "It bothers me," pointing out that some children had been suspended and weren't permitted to attend schools during the heavy snows in January, while other students were required to get to school.

Harry D. McConville said he didn't believe any suspended child should be permitted to return to classes until at least one of the parents appeared with the child to discuss the reasons for the suspension.

There was no further comment.

Miss Liebschner reported a balance of $282,509 in all school funds.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Charles W. Kampmeyer of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

For Estimated $100,000

Live TV, Radio Coverage Of Ohio Assembly Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Yes, but will it compete with Batman for prime time? Or "bump" milady's favorite soap operas in daytime?

For an estimated $100,000, Ohioans may be able to see their legislature in action (?), on television, it developed Monday.

The money would pay for metallic vapor lights, TV cables, camera platforms and other improvements to make the Statehouse chambers of the General Assembly more photogenic.

State Architect Carl Bentz estimates it would cost about $54,000 to equip the House of Representatives, and the Senate cost likely would be comparable.

Bentz appeared before a legislative study committee on the matter, along with several radio and television executives and broadcasters advocating that legislative sessions be brought into Ohio living rooms.

The committee on legislative facilitiesn after taking the testimony, recommended live radio-TV coverage and voted 10-1 for installation of the necessary equipment.

The committee voted in favor of live and film broadcasting during working sessions — after witnesses testified this would not disrupt deliberations.

"If you want people to know what is going on, permit us on the floor," pleaded Walter Bartlett, vice president for television, AVCO Broadcasting Corp., Cincinnati.

Hugh DeMoss of AVCO's WLW-C, Columbus, said modern new lighting is needed to make telecasting successful. Even without TV, DeMoss said, present lighting is inadequate for inefficient work.

The committee was convinced —except for Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark, opposed on grounds of cost.

"It would have nothing to do with the efficient working of the legislature," she said. "I don't see how televising would contribute to that."

Her fellow Stark County representative, Robert E. Levitt, R advocated radio - TV coverage because "people back home don't really have much idea of what we're doing down here. It should raise the status of the legislature."

The committee approved proposals to build new desks for more adequate work space in the House and to equip a room with dictating machines for representatives.

Rep. Virtus J. Kruse, D-Fayette, objected to spending $20,000 for new desks. He said reapportionment is still a possibility and could require more members for subsequent sessions.

Trend May Influence Congress

Vocal Economy Leaders Urge More U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the leading vocal champions of economy have joined in voting for increases in federal spending this year.

And if the trend that has developed during the first three months of the session continues, the 1966 Congress seems likely to increase rather than cut President Johnson's requests for new appropriations and commitments for future spending.

This is despite talk about the need to cut spending because of the threat of inflation and the Viet Nam war.

President Johnson took cognizance of the election-year situation when he told a recent news conference he didn't think Congress will substantially cut his budget, despite talk there of economy.

"We will have a lot of speeches on it," the President commented. "We will have a lot of talking. There will be a good many handouts. They will say he ought to cut the expenditures, but you cut one of these veterans hospitals and see what a buzzsaw you run into."

The President was speaking against a background of many years as a member of Congress — first the House, then the Senate.

Most of the bills involving huge amounts of money still await congressional action, and some of them almost certainly will be boosted beyond what the President requested. They finance programs dear to the hearts of most congressmen, including the school lunch and school milk programs, federal payments to school districts, expanded educational programs, and local public works projects.

Johnson has proposed cuts in many of the spending programs, but Congress appears to be in no mood to go along. This is a congressional election year and 469 of the 535 Senate and House seats will be at stake in the November elections.

Republicans have led the demands for curtailment of spending on new "Great Society" programs and some of the older domestic ones. A few Democrats have joined them in repeated insistence for home-front belt tightening.

Among the more prominent advocates of budget-cutting have been Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader; Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House GOP chief; Sens. John J. Williams, R-Del.; Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio; and Allen J. Ellender, D-La.; and Reps. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis.; H. R. Gross, R-Iowa; Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio; and Paul C. Jones, D-Mo.

All nine of them voted for the biggest boost in spending approved this year. But they were in good company in their support of a bill providing educational and other benefits for veterans with service that started after 1955, when benefits under the Korean GI bill ended.

The bill carried a price tag about $260 million above what the administration had advocated. A compromise measure, it passed the House 381-0 and the Senate 99-0.

Another big budget puncture came on a bill originally designed to raise $6 billion in emergency revenues by restoring excise taxes on telephone calls and automobiles and changing income tax withholding procedures.

The Senate added to the bill — over the objections of Ellender, Dirksen and Williams, with Lausche not voting — an amendment that would have blanketed several hundred thousands elderly persons into the Social Security program at a cost of $790 million.

The House balked, and the result was a compromise costing about $90 million more than the President wanted. Reps. Bow, Gross, and Jones opposed the compromise. Reps. Ford and Laird voted for it. Senators Dirksen, Ellender and Williams supported it, with Lausche not voting.

The tax-Social Security compromise, however, gave opponents of the $90-million increase little choice. There was no way to separate the tax section from the Social Security provision. It was a case of voting for the whole package or voting against it.

On the positive side of the ledger, economy advocates can point to relatively minor cuts in money for two brand-new "Great Society" programs. The House has passed a bill providing only $12 million of the $30 million requested for rent subsidies, and $12 million of the $13.2 million sought for the new teachers corps.

Democrats helped effect these cuts in the House Appropriations Committee. A drive by Rep. Bow to eliminate both funds failed.

Most of the money for the rent, teachers and school district programs is for use only until June 30 of this year.

On the two other smaller bills involving spending, the leading champions of budget-cutting were united in their losing opposition. These bills authorized $9.5 million to help finance an inter-American cultural center in Miami, Fla., and $4.6 million to help Alaska celebrate the centennial of its purchase from Russia. The actual cash has not yet been appropriated.

Before the end of the session, more than a dozen appropriation bills involving presidential requests for more than $137 billion in new funds and authority to obligate money will be considered. Congress has no control over about $13 billion of the total, the major uncontrollable item being interest on the national debt.

The population of the United States passed 195 million in 1965, an increase of more than 7 per cent from the 180 million in 1960.

Price Of Milk Increased In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP)—The retail price of milk went up in Pennsylvania today.

The increase, ordered last week by the State Milk Control Commission, amounts to a penny a quart across the state with two exceptions.

They are the Pittsburgh and Schuylkill marketing areas where the hike is a half-cent a quart.

Increases in the prices paid to farmers by dealers and processors also went into effect at midnight.

Allegheny County made a last-ditch attempt Monday to thwart the increase for the 13-county Pittsburgh marketing area but it was denied a request for an injunction by Commonwealth Court.

The county, which said it was representing 2,000,000 consumers as well as itself, was seeking a temporary injunction only against the commission order affecting the Pittsburgh area.

Judge William W. Lipsitt, who announced the court decision after holding an hour-long hearing, said "an adequate remedy exists in law."

He did not elaborate but William D. Morgan, assistant attorney general for the Milk Control Commission, had argued earlier that any person aggrieved by a commission order may appeal to Commonwealth Court within 20 days after the effective date of an order.

The county sought the injunction on the ground that the milk order was illegal because, it said, insufficient advance notice was given of the milk commission hearing preceding the price order.

The county further said that the matter of potential dealers' profit was not explored at the commission hearing.

When the increase was announced last week, Commissioner Joab Mahood explained that increases were necessary because of a reported shortage of milk in the state and nation as a whole because of increased prices granted to farmers in areas under federal control.

Producer prices will go up 40 cents a hundred pounds everywhere but in federal order areas and in the Pittsburgh and the Schuylkill areas where the boost will be 20 cents.

New Instructor Hired For Southern Beaver

The Southern Beaver County School District board hired a science teacher, authorized the advertising of bids of supplies and approved several field trips during a meeting Monday night at the South Side High School.

Mrs. Martha N. Bomar was elected to replace Mrs. Marie Elliott, who resigned in March as science instructor.

The board secretary, Mrs. Katherine M. Andrews, was authorized to advertise for bids for general supplies, fuel oil and the Title One project.

The board also accepted the resignation of Thomas E. Rockrohr, social studies teacher, effective July 1.

Field trips approved by the board were Mrs. Jean Walton, to take seven girls to Geneva College on April 15; Michael Kachuriak to accompany commercial students on a tour to Pittsburgh, where they will visit the Mellon Bank, U.S. Steel Building, Alcoa Building, Gulf Building and the Allegheny County Courthouse; the Latin Club to attend the State Junior League Convention, with Mrs. Katherine Bender, director, at Punxsutawney April 30, and the custodians to attend a workshop at Hopewell High School June 23 and 24.

In other action, the board granted permission to the South Side Boosters Club to hold a bake sale in conjunction with the spring concert May 19.

3 Youths Placed On Probation In Fire At Industry

Three Industry youths, ages 12 and 13, have been placed on 90 days' probation as the aftermath of a fire March 28 at the Spencer House on Route 68.

The action was taken Monday afternoon.

Police Chief Roy Hohensehl said the boys had confessed to buying cigarettes and hiding under the Spencer House to smoke them. The chief, describing the incident, as "careless use of cigarettes by the youth," recommended the probation to Mayor Steve Suchanec.

Terms include a 10 p. m. curfew and raising of academic standings in school. The mayor said the boys will be kept under probation "until they can prove they can become responsible young citizens."

For Estimated $100,000

Live TV, Radio Coverage Of Ohio Assembly Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Yes, but will it compete with Batman for prime time? Or "bump" milady's favorite soap operas in daytime?

For an estimated $100,000, Ohioans may be able to see their legislature in action (?), on television, it developed Monday.

The money would pay for metallic vapor lights, TV cables, camera platforms and other improvements to make the Statehouse chambers of the General Assembly more photogenic.

State Architect Carl Bentz estimates it would cost about $54,000 to equip the House of Representatives, and the Senate cost likely would be comparable.

Bentz appeared before a legislative study committee on the matter, along with several radio and television executives and broadcasters advocating that legislative sessions be brought into Ohio living rooms.

The committee on legislative facilitiesn after taking the testimony, recommended live radio-TV coverage and voted 10-1 for installation of the necessary equipment.

The committee voted in favor of live and film broadcasting during working sessions — after witnesses testified this would not disrupt deliberations.

"If you want people to know what is going on, permit us on the floor," pleaded Walter Bartlett, vice president for television, AVCO Broadcasting Corp., Cincinnati.

Hugh DeMoss of AVCO's WLW-C, Columbus, said modern new lighting is needed to make telecasting successful. Even without TV, DeMoss said, present lighting is inadequate for inefficient work.

The committee was convinced —except for Rep. Bernice K. MacKenzie, D-Stark, opposed on grounds of cost.

"It would have nothing to do with the efficient working of the legislature," she said. "I don't see how televising would contribute to that."

Her fellow Stark County representative, Robert E. Levitt, R advocated radio - TV coverage because "people back home don't really have much idea of what we're doing down here. It should raise the status of the legislature."

The committee approved proposals to build new desks for more adequate work space in the House and to equip a room with dictating machines for representatives.

Rep. Virtus J. Kruse, D-Fayette, objected to spending $20,000 for new desks. He said reapportionment is still a possibility and could require more members for subsequent sessions.

Trend May Influence Congress

Vocal Economy Leaders Urge More U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the leading vocal champions of economy have joined in voting for increases in federal spending this year.

And if the trend that has developed during the first three months of the session continues, the 1966 Congress seems likely to increase rather than cut President Johnson's requests for new appropriations and commitments for future spending.

This is despite talk about the need to cut spending because of the threat of inflation and the Viet Nam war.

President Johnson took cognizance of the election-year situation when he told a recent news conference he didn't think Congress will substantially cut his budget, despite talk there of economy.

"We will have a lot of speeches on it," the President commented. "We will have a lot of talking. There will be a good many handouts. They will say he ought to cut the expenditures, but you cut one of these veterans hospitals and see what a buzzsaw you run into."

The President was speaking against a background of many years as a member of Congress — first the House, then the Senate.

Most of the bills involving huge amounts of money still await congressional action, and some of them almost certainly will be boosted beyond what the President requested. They finance programs dear to the hearts of most congressmen, including the school lunch and school milk programs, federal payments to school districts, expanded educational programs, and local public works projects.

Johnson has proposed cuts in many of the spending programs, but Congress appears to be in no mood to go along. This is a congressional election year and 469 of the 535 Senate and House seats will be at stake in the November elections.

Republicans have led the demands for curtailment of spending on new "Great Society" programs and some of the older domestic ones. A few Democrats have joined them in repeated insistence for home-front belt tightening.

Among the more prominent advocates of budget-cutting have been Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader; Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House GOP chief; Sens. John J. Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Today I want to talk to you about ground meat (hamburger) and its s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r.

And my, can you stretch a pound of that stuff, if it hasn't already got filling or stretcher in it.

Ask your meat market man before you buy it. If he turns red (the color of the hamburger!) or blushes, you know it has.

Now, remember that we told you Monday to put a spoonful of water over a bouillon cube, and when it dissolves, mix well into your pound of meat.

Those of you who are on a strict budget, can always add what the meat industry calls "extenders". These extenders make a pound of hamburger weigh more and it goes further. That's why I call 'em s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r-s.

AFTER TALKING with a reputable meat packer, I learned just what extenders are, what can and should be used, and the things that cannot be added to hamburger because they show or just won't mix.

Extenders are something that we add to ground meat, which blend into the meat, and when it's cooked it seems to have diappeared, and the meat looks like ALL meat. In other words, it doesn't show anything has been added. Some things that you add to ground meat will not disappear when cooked. This shows that extenders have been added.

So, you can see there is really a big difference.

Naturally, some things we do not want to disappear—such as grated carrots—because they add color, etc.

Ground or finely crushed corn flakes, or any other cereal that suits your taste, such as oatmeal (pre-cooked or raw), bread crumbs, cracker crumbs, packaged turkey stuffing which contains sage (and that is wonderful) can be blended into the hamburger and will disappear when it's cooked.

HERE ARE SOME hints on what not to use because they won't blend with the meat without showing when it's cooked—if that's what you want:

Rice will show up in the cooking as a separate ingredient.

So, don't forget, gals, try those wonderful stretchers and extenders. They're quite worthy in my book.

Use them along with the bouillon cubes. (and I often wonder why somebody doesn't make ham bouillon cubes.)

Don't forget to try that packaged turkey stuffing. If you can't afford it, save your bread and use that for stuffing, and when you add your liquid to your meat loaf, just put a dab or so of sage into the liquid, then squeeze and mix away. And don't ask me how much a "dab" is! Just use it according to your own taste.

You can also use poultry seasoning instead of sage. I sometimes mix both together.

Anyway, here's to it. I do suggest that you try these meat extenders.

Last night, I put chili powder (yet, one teaspoonful) with some grated onions in my pound of hamburger meat, and it was a knock-out!

Sort of gave it the flavor of barbecue. Imagine!

DEAR HELOISE: If you have kittens around the house and have had trouble keeping them off your furniture, try this:

Get an old wicker basket or dog bed, and turn it upside down so it can rock.

SALLY PAT.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently I bought new white plastic window shades (minus rollers) for my three kitchen windows.

I had to cut them narrower for the rollers.

I was in need of shelf liner when I cleaned my cabinet over the stove, so I took the little "rolls" left from the shades, and they were just the right width for my shelves.

They are wonderfully white and easy to wipe clean.

You can stick a pin through the shade at the width you want, and as you unroll the shade, you can cut right down to each pin hole! Slick?

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Preparation Necessary For Tests

Most junior and senior high schools direct some or all their students to take special tests related to college entrance. In some schools taking these tests is wholly voluntary and some promising students don't take them as early as they should or not at all. Parents with children in the seventh or eighth grade should learn from the principal or counselor about the nature and purpose of these tests and when their children should take them.

Dr. Garry Myers

For some children, even bright ones, taking these tests is a trying ordeal. The emotional strain may be enhanced by what they have heard about the significance of the scores on these tests. Some parents and teachers have dropped ominous and anxious suggestions about the tests.

WE PARENTS and teachers might help students to feel less anxiety and emotional strain over these tests and to make better scores if we could prevail on them: 1. To read carefully through all the "questions" on the tests before answering any of them, and then to answer first those they feel most sure they can do. 2. After completing the test, "proofread" their answers, especially when they have ample time to do so. Many a quick student will hand in his finished test long before the time is up without going over a single part of it.

The average student at junior or senior high level has had ample practice in his regular schoolwork in taking tests. If there is no place in the school program for giving him training in proofreading his answers to tests, we parents might, as soon as the child begins to prepare written homework, give him some guidance in this direction. We could quietly induce him to go over his written work at home carefully, to make sure it is as well and accurately done as he can make it. He might often be willing to have us help him check it.

Guiding our children at school and at home on such proofreading could be so much more effective if the regular school tests, and school assignments for written work at home were for shorter periods than they are, and if the time limits at school were longer, as a rule.

CONSIDER at what speed most children at school are supposed to work on a spelling test. Many a child has not finished spelling one word before he hears another one pronounced. When he has spelled the last word of the test, he rarely has time to check over the list he has spelled before he must hand in his paper.

Some pupils and students have great worries over special tests in any subject, announced ahead of time. They may study long, late hours preparing for these tests. At school and home we guide the pupil and student best in preparation for such tests as we win them to put their efforts on their daily homework and at being alert and attentive at each class period.

My bulletins "Parents and the Child's Homework," "Educating Your Child in Responsibility," and "Tips for Students" may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: Today I want to talk to you about ground meat (hamburger) and its s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r.

And my, can you stretch a pound of that stuff, if it hasn't already got filling or stretcher in it.

Ask your meat market man before you buy it. If he turns red (the color of the hamburger!) or blushes, you know it has.

Now, remember that we told you Monday to put a spoonful of water over a bouillon cube, and when it dissolves, mix well into your pound of meat.

Those of you who are on a strict budget, can always add what the meat industry calls "extenders". These extenders make a pound of hamburger weigh more and it goes further. That's why I call 'em s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-r-s.

AFTER TALKING with a reputable meat packer, I learned just what extenders are, what can and should be used, and the things that cannot be added to hamburger because they show or just won't mix.

Extenders are something that we add to ground meat, which blend into the meat, and when it's cooked it seems to have diappeared, and the meat looks like ALL meat. In other words, it doesn't show anything has been added. Some things that you add to ground meat will not disappear when cooked. This shows that extenders have been added.

So, you can see there is really a big difference.

Naturally, some things we do not want to disappear—such as grated carrots—because they add color, etc.

Ground or finely crushed corn flakes, or any other cereal that suits your taste, such as oatmeal (pre-cooked or raw), bread crumbs, cracker crumbs, packaged turkey stuffing which contains sage (and that is wonderful) can be blended into the hamburger and will disappear when it's cooked.

HERE ARE SOME hints on what not to use because they won't blend with the meat without showing when it's cooked—if that's what you want:

Rice will show up in the cooking as a separate ingredient.

So, don't forget, gals, try those wonderful stretchers and extenders. They're quite worthy in my book.

Use them along with the bouillon cubes. (and I often wonder why somebody doesn't make ham bouillon cubes.)

Council's Decision

3 Parking Rules Will Be Extended

Council agreed Monday night on extension of three teemporary parking regulations until legislation can be presented making them permanent.

The extensions were agreed upon at the suggestion of Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. They are: A parking ban on the west side of College St. near the new Ohio State Employment Service office; a two-hour limit on parking on old W. 8th St. at the rear of the former Webber Brewery, and a ban on parking on Golding St.—the short stretch which links the Newell Bridge to W. 5th St. near City Hospital.

VODREY explained that all the regulations had been in effect under a clause that allows temporary changes in traffic rules for up to 90 days. At his suggestion, Council agreed to extend the regulations for another 90 days, meanwhile preparing legislation to make the changes permanent.

In other business, Council received and filed a petition signed by 21 businessmen objecting to a suggestion of the City Traffic Commission for establishment of one-way traffic on St. Clair Ave. between the Diamond and Broadway. Councilman Floyd Murray, chairman of the street committee, said it is studying other recommendations filed by the commission.

Murray's committee was given a letter from St. Stephen's Episcopal Church explaining plans for establishment of a new private parking lot at East Alley and Drury Ln. The lot would accommodate 19 cars, the letter said. It requested the city limit parking in sections of East Alley and Drury Ln. in connection with the project.

MURRAY reported on investigation of a request by the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association for widening of sidewalks near the school. He pointed out owners of abutting property would have to pay for such widening.

Solicitor Joseph Cooper requested a meeting with Council within the next week to discuss several pending pieces of legislation. He said he would like to confer with Council in order to draft new legislation regulating street opening permits and establishing city employes' vacations.

Councilman Robert W. Sample, president pro tem, said the members will be notified when the meeting has been arranged. He said it probably will be Tuesday, April 12.

Council tabled an ordinance given first reading at the March 21 meeting, setting up new fees and regulations for street-opening permits. Several members commented they feel a $50 fee for a permit for opening a concrete street is too high.

Two routine ordinances were approved.

One changes the name of what is now known as "Mildred Ave." to Garner Ave. The affected stretch runs from St. Clair Ave., Maplewood, west to the west corporate line.

The other authorizes the administration to advertise for bids for a new auto for the fire chief, trading in a 1960 model Studebaker station wagon.

COUNCIL filed a letter from the water department pointing out that it pumped 805,814,000 gallons of water during 1965. The letter said it billed customers for 473,083,000 gallons, so 332,731,000 apparently was used for city purposes or lost through waste or leakage.

The claims committee was given a bill against the city from Robert Campbell of 815 Midway Ln. for damage to the paint on his auto, allegedly struck Feb. 20 by ashes from a street department truck. He enclosed two estimates, one of $92 and one of $41.

Local Burglars Take Clock, Television Set

A 23-inch Zenith television set and a ship's clock worth $26 were stolen from his home at 216 Jefferson St. while he was absent, E. R. Mays reported to police Sunday.

Several smaller items also are missing, Mays said. Police said there was no sign of a forcible entry and speculated the thief may have used a key to gain entrance.

Meanwhile, Patrolman David K. Mumaw discovered a breaking and entering at the Parsons Coal Co. office at the foot of Jackson St. in which a thief obtained 60 cents in pennies.

Officer Mumaw said entry was obtained by breaking a glass on the east side of the building. Desks were ransacked. The burglary took place between 9:30 p. m. Saturday and 5:12 a. m. Sunday.

Board Okays Book Boycott

A resolution to boycott a Tennessee printing firm and to notify textbook publishers of its decision was adopted unanimously by the Board of Education Monday night.

The board acted on the resolution requested by East Liverpool Printing Specialties and Paper Products Local 638. The action will remain in effect until a three - year dispute between 1,200 workers and the Kingsport Press, Inc., of Kingsport, Tenn., is settled.

The resolution provides the schools will not purchase any textbook systems whose books are printed by the Tennessee concern "where others of equal value are available" and will notify publishers of its decision.

It is similar to a resolution enacted by the Cleveland Board of Education, Gerald Cartwright of East Liverpool, a representative of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union, said. The New York City Board of Education also has adopted a similar resolution, he added.

The board had received a letter from the East Liverpool Trades and Labor Council urging that the resolution be adopted. The letter pointed out that the trades council believes union members' tax money should be used to purchase union-made materials.

Near the end of the brief discussion, Samuel W. Brown, vice president of the board, commented, "I would like to see Trades and Labor Council endorse our 3.5-mill levy."

Members of the East Liverpool local said the endorsement will be brought up at the next meeting of Trades and Labor. Cartwright said, "I want to assure you our group will go on record as endorsing the levy."

The current expense levy for five years will be voted on at the May 3 primaries. The board has said the increased funds will be used to increase teachers' wages.

Bond Issue Approved For St. Clair Project

Council gave quick approval Monday night to legislation clearing the way for sale of a $306,000 municipal bond issue to finish the long - term financing of the St. Clair Ave. rebuilding project, which was completed in 1965.

The legislation provides that $102,530 of the issue represents special assessments still due from owners of abutting property and $203,470 will be paid directly from municipal funds.

The legislation authorizes Auditor L. J. Zollinger to sell the issue at the lowest possible rate of interest. Zollinger said he will open bids at his office at 2 p.m. on Monday, May 2.

Board Drafts Projects Under Titles 1 And 2

The Board of Education unanimously approved a resolution Monday night to participate in projects under Titles I and II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act after hearing an outline of the federal programs by Supt. Paul H. Blair and Asst. Supt. George Hargraves Jr.

City schools are eligible for $77,000 under Title I projects while $2.08 per pupil will be spent for instructional materials under Title II, school officials said. They explained the board is not required to match the money as is the case with purchases under Title III of the National Defense Education Act.

BASED ON the 1960 census, the school district has 351 children, including parochial students, who qualify as economically deprived and come from families with less than $2,000 annual income, they explained.

Plans for two projects under Title I — a developmental reading research laboratory and a cultural, personal health and life-training program — have been completed and will be taken to Columbus this week for approval.

Plans for a summer school project are being worked out.

Under provisions of Title I, plans for projects must be completed by the end of June and the money must be encumbered by Aug. 31, Blair said. Under Title II, the federal money will not be available for instructional materials unless the board has spent the same amount of money as it did last year.

The superintedent said the law requires the board to spend $1 per child in elementary schools and 50 cents per child in secondary grades for library books. Last year was the first year the board reached the minimum expenditure, board members pointed out.

UNDER THE developmental reading research laboratory plans, students from the first through ninth grades will be included, with existing classrooms at East Junior and Westgate Junior High housing the laboratories, Hargraves explained.

Two reading teachers, now on the staff, will be given extended employment to operate the laboratories this summer. The latest equipment, materials and aids will be installed and utilized to improve reading, he continued.

The cultural, personal health and life-training project will benefit children in the sixth through ninth grades in the East End. The obbjective is to provide personal services and instruction in the health area, opportunities for cultural growth in the fields of art and music, and the development of general values of self-expression in life-training activities, including mechanical drawing and shop for boys and homemaking for girls.

The purchase of instructional materials under Title II is to increase the quantity, quality and availability of library books, textbooks and audio - visual teaching materials.

Items available under the provisions of the act include records, tapes, films, filmstrips, books, Hargraves explained.

Council's Decision

3 Parking Rules Will Be Extended

Council agreed Monday night on extension of three teemporary parking regulations until legislation can be presented making them permanent.

The extensions were agreed upon at the suggestion of Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. They are: A parking ban on the west side of College St. near the new Ohio State Employment Service office; a two-hour limit on parking on old W. 8th St. at the rear of the former Webber Brewery, and a ban on parking on Golding St.—the short stretch which links the Newell Bridge to W. 5th St. near City Hospital.

VODREY explained that all the regulations had been in effect under a clause that allows temporary changes in traffic rules for up to 90 days. At his suggestion, Council agreed to extend the regulations for another 90 days, meanwhile preparing legislation to make the changes permanent.

In other business, Council received and filed a petition signed by 21 businessmen objecting to a suggestion of the City Traffic Commission for establishment of one-way traffic on St. Clair Ave. between the Diamond and Broadway. Councilman Floyd Murray, chairman of the street committee, said it is studying other recommendations filed by the commission.

Murray's committee was given a letter from St. Stephen's Episcopal Church explaining plans for establishment of a new private parking lot at East Alley and Drury Ln. The lot would accommodate 19 cars, the letter said. It requested the city limit parking in sections of East Alley and Drury Ln. in connection with the project.

MURRAY reported on investigation of a request by the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association for widening of sidewalks near the school. He pointed out owners of abutting property would have to pay for such widening.

Solicitor Joseph Cooper requested a meeting with Council within the next week to discuss several pending pieces of legislation. He said he would like to confer with Council in order to draft new legislation regulating street opening permits and establishing city employes' vacations.

Councilman Robert W. Sample, president pro tem, said the members will be notified when the meeting has been arranged. He said it probably will be Tuesday, April 12.

Council tabled an ordinance given first reading at the March 21 meeting, setting up new fees and regulations for street-opening permits. Several members commented they feel a $50 fee for a permit for opening a concrete street is too high.

Two routine ordinances were approved.

One changes the name of what is now known as "Mildred Ave." to Garner Ave. The affected stretch runs from St. Clair Ave., Maplewood, west to the west corporate line.

The other authorizes the administration to advertise for bids for a new auto for the fire chief, trading in a 1960 model Studebaker station wagon.

COUNCIL filed a letter from the water department pointing out that it pumped 805,814,000 gallons of water during 1965. The letter said it billed customers for 473,083,000 gallons, so 332,731,000 apparently was used for city purposes or lost through waste or leakage.

The claims committee was given a bill against the city from Robert Campbell of 815 Midway Ln. for damage to the paint on his auto, allegedly struck Feb. 20 by ashes from a street department truck. He enclosed two estimates, one of $92 and one of $41.

Local Burglars Take Clock, Television Set

A 23-inch Zenith television set and a ship's clock worth $26 were stolen from his home at 216 Jefferson St. while he was absent, E. R. Mays reported to police Sunday.

Several smaller items also are missing, Mays said. Police said there was no sign of a forcible entry and speculated the thief may have used a key to gain entrance.

Meanwhile, Patrolman David K. Mumaw discovered a breaking and entering at the Parsons Coal Co. office at the foot of Jackson St. in which a thief obtained 60 cents in pennies.

Officer Mumaw said entry was obtained by breaking a glass on the east side of the building. Desks were ransacked. The burglary took place between 9:30 p. m. Saturday and 5:12 a. m. Sunday.

Board Okays Book Boycott

A resolution to boycott a Tennessee printing firm and to notify textbook publishers of its decision was adopted unanimously by the Board of Education Monday night.

The board acted on the resolution requested by East Liverpool Printing Specialties and Paper Products Local 638. The action will remain in effect until a three-year dispute between 1,200 workers and the Kingsport Press, Inc., of Kingsport, Tenn., is settled.

The resolution provides the schools will not purchase any textbook systems whose books are printed by the Tennessee concern "where others of equal value are available" and will notify publishers of its decision.

It is similar to a resolution enacted by the Cleveland Board of Education, Gerald Cartwright of East Liverpool, a representative of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union, said. The New York City Board of Education also has adopted a similar resolution, he added.

The board had received a letter from the East Liverpool Trades and Labor Council urging that the resolution be adopted. The letter pointed out that the trades council believes union members' tax money should be used to purchase union-made materials.

Near the end of the brief discussion, Samuel W. Brown, vice president of the board, commented, "I would like to see Trades and Labor Council endorse our 3.5-mill levy."

Members of the East Liverpool local said the endorsement will be brought up at the next meeting of Trades and Labor. Cartwright said, "I want to assure you our group will go on record as endorsing the levy."

The current expense levy for five years will be voted on at the May 3 primaries. The board has said the increased funds will be used to increase teachers' wages.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

Crusade Against Coercion

The people who run the nation's commercial radio and television outlets were exhorted last week by their chief industry spokesman to set out on a broad - ranging crusade against every form of government stricture from the Communications Act to simple eyebrow raising.

Richard Doan

Vincent T. Wasilewski, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, said the Federal Communications Commission in its surveillance over the airwaves is pursuing "an unfortunate technique of regulation" involving statements of official policy, the latest of which concerns radio programming.

"FOURTEEN categories (of programming) were enumerated as necessary to meet the public interest requirement," the NAB head noted. "It is our conviction that the commission exceeded its authority."

"A group of letters sent out to stations which asked if it were their policy to preclude the appearance of political candidates on their stations and if so to explain how this served the public interest" constituted another "obviously intimidating action," Wasilewski charged.

The official called for "aggressive action" by broadcasters to amend or test the Communications Act, adopted in 1934 to govern broadcasting.

THE ACT, he pointed out, protects radio and TV from FCC censorship by "prior restraint," but "this narrow definition does not adequately prevent the use of indirect administrative procedures or the intimidation of the raised eyebrow technique."

Wasilewski proposed that the law be amended to provide that the FCC "may not, directly or indirectly, forbid or require a station to carry any particular program, series of programs, or category of programs."

He urged broadcasters to "nail down with absolute finality" their guarantees of press freedom as electronic journalists.

"I was frankly dismayed," he reported, "when the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association stated not long ago that the protections of the 1st and 14th amendments did not extend far enough to include radio and TV. This is dangerous and short - sighted thinking."

WASILEWSKI said the NAB will confer with members of Congress on the possibilities of rewriting the Communications Act to allow FCC policy rulings to be challenged in court before they are put into effect.

The NAB gave its 1966 Distinguished Service Award to Sol Taishoff, whose Broadcasting weekly is the industry Bible.

An indefatigable defender of the broadcasters' faith in free enterprise untrammeled by "the deadening hand of government," Taishoff, in accepting the award, chided TV interests for seeking federal protection from threatened inroads by community antenna television (CATV).

"It saddens me to say that the current climate of the broadcasting business is not especially conducive to imaginative ventures and risky progress," the publisher observed.

"THE DOMINANT attitude in the power centers of television is conservative. All across the country broadcasters rally to the cry, 'Don't rock the boat.'"

If they succeed in getting government protection from CATV competition, Taishoff warned, broadcasters must expect to give up something in return, which will be "another piece of their freedom."

The next step; he suggested, will be something like a letter "to a television station from the secretary of the FCC asking it to justify its profit of, say, 35 per cent on net sales in the light of its scarcity of local live programming."

Officers Elected By Lutheran Unit

Miss Leigh Ann Bernstorf was elected president of the Luther League of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church during a meeting Sunday night at the parish house. She succeeds Bob Madish.

Miss Bernstorf was in charge of the program and devotions.

MOM'S GOT A NEW FLAME!
...AND DAD APPROVES!

And well he might. Because Mom's new flame is a lean, modern, dependable Gas range.

It was love at first light.

Her new flame is the sensitive type. Responds to her lightest whim. It starts cooking when she wants, stops cooking the instant she turns off the burner. And offers 1,001 shades of heat in between.

Gas takes the guesswork out of cooking. And this instant control means less wasted heat before and after the actual cooking. That's one of the keep-your-kitchen-cool features of a Gas range.

Only Gas ranges let you broil with the oven door closed. That's a keep-your-kitchen-clean feature of Gas.

In the make-your-kitchen-pretty department, Gas ranges offer exciting new styles, gleaming eye-level ovens, appetizing new colors. New cooking ideas, too, only on modern Gas ranges—ovens that keep dinner serving-hot for hours without overcooking, a new automatic self-basting Gas rotisserie and many others you'll have to see to believe.

But best of all is the keep-your-family-happy feature. It's simply this: Food looks better and tastes better when it's cooked with a clean Gas flame.

Here's more food for thought: Think of all the things you can do with the money you save with Gas.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU CAN DO WITH THE MONEY YOU SAVE. GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

Crusade Against Coercion

The people who run the nation's commercial radio and television outlets were exhorted last week by their chief industry spokesman to set out on a broad - ranging crusade against every form of government stricture from the Communications Act to simple eyebrow raising.

Richard Doan

Vincent T. Wasilewski, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, said the Federal Communications Commission in its surveillance over the airwaves is pursuing "an unfortunate technique of regulation" involving statements of official policy, the latest of which concerns radio programming.

"FOURTEEN categories (of programming) were enumerated as necessary to meet the public interest requirement," the NAB head noted. "It is our conviction that the commission exceeded its authority."

"A group of letters sent out to stations which asked if it were their policy to preclude the appearance of political candidates on their stations and if so to explain how this served the public interest" constituted another "obviously intimidating action," Wasilewski charged.

The official called for "aggressive action" by broadcasters to amend or test the Communications Act, adopted in 1934 to govern broadcasting.

THE ACT, he pointed out, protects radio and TV from FCC censorship by "prior restraint," but "this narrow definition does not adequately prevent the use of indirect administrative procedures or the intimidation of the raised eyebrow technique."

Wasilewski proposed that the law be amended to provide that the FCC "may not, directly or indirectly, forbid or require a station to carry any particular program, series of programs, or category of programs."

He urged broadcasters to "nail down with absolute finality" their guarantees of press freedom as electronic journalists.

"I was frankly dismayed," he reported, "when the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association stated not long ago that the protections of the 1st and 14th amendments did not extend far enough to include radio and TV. This is dangerous and short - sighted thinking."

WASILEWSKI said the NAB will confer with members of Congress on the possibilities of rewriting the Communications Act to allow FCC policy rulings to be challenged in court before they are put into effect.

The NAB gave its 1966 Distinguished Service Award to Sol Taishoff, whose Broadcasting weekly is the industry Bible.

An indefatigable defender of the broadcasters' faith in free enterprise untrammeled by "the deadening hand of government," Taishoff, in accepting the award, chided TV interests for seeking federal protection from threatened inroads by community antenna television (CATV).

"It saddens me to say that the current climate of the broadcasting business is not especially conducive to imaginative ventures and risky progress," the publisher observed.

"THE DOMINANT attitude in the power centers of television is conservative. All across the country broadcasters rally to the cry, 'Don't rock the boat.'"

If they succeed in getting government protection from CATV competition, Taishoff warned, broadcasters must expect to give up something in return, which will be "another piece of their freedom."

The next step; he suggested, will be something like a letter "to a television station from the secretary of the FCC asking it to justify its profit of, say, 35 per cent on net sales in the light of its scarcity of local live programming."

Officers Elected By Lutheran Unit

Miss Leigh Ann Bernstorf was elected president of the Luther League of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church during a meeting Sunday night at the parish house. She succeeds Bob Madish.

Miss Bernstorf was in charge of the program and devotions.

Yanks' Repoz Creates Own Hurricane

Belts 3 HR's As New York Edges Cincy

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Repoz, a young outfielder, walloped three home runs as the Yankees outlasted Cincinnati 10-9 in one of two games that survived Florida's rainy, windy weather.

At Mesa, Ariz., Cleveland whipped Los Angeles 7-2 and at Las Vegas, Nev., the Chicago Cubs blanked California 4-0.

Cancelled because of the storm were Houston-Pittsburgh; Minnesota - Kansas City; St. Louis-Chicago White Sox; Boston-New York Mets, and Atlanta-Philadelphia.

Repoz slammed two of his homers off Sammy Ellis, who will open the season for the Reds against the Mets next Monday at Cincinnati. Repoz tagged Ted Davidson for the third.

Gordy Coleman led the Reds' attack with five runs batted in on a homer, triple and single. Johnny Edwards also homered for Cincinnati.

Leon Wagner rapped a pair of run-scoring doubles and left-handed ace Sam McDowell struck out seven Dodgers in the six innings he worked as Cleveland beat Los Angeles.

Max Alvis also drove in two runs for the Indians and McDowell, the American League's strikeout king last year, allowed five hits but had trouble with his control, walking five, in his six innings.

Ernie Broglio worked the first seven innings and relief specialist Ted Abernathy finished up the Cubs' three-hit shutout of the Angels. Broglio allowed all the California hits and stretched his spring record to three earned runs in 31 innings.

Catcher Chris Krug had a perfect day with four hits in four swings for Chicago. He drove in two runs. Billy Williams homered for the Cubs against Angel ace Dean Chance.

Curt Blefary, the American League's Rookie of the Year last season, hammered two home runs and Boog Powell had one as the Orioles defeated Washington.

Powell also drove in two runs with a fifth inning triple as Baltimore tagged Phil Ortega and Dick Bosman for five runs.

Terry, Tribe Fast Heading For Dead End

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Ralph Terry is a majority of one.

The Clevleand Indians pitcher is the last holdout in major league baseball and it appears he and the Indians brass have come to a dead end.

"He won't budge," Indians Vice Presideent Walter (Hoot) Evers said Monday. "I called him a second time and there is no change. It's getting late."

This means the 30-year-old Terry still wants $38,000. Indians President Gabe Paul has offered $31,000.

"I have no plans to go to Tucson to talk to Gabe," Terry said. "I don't know that we could accomplish anything face-to-face that we can't by telephone."

The Indians may put Terry on their restricted list because they must cut to 28 players by midnight Sunday.

"As it stands now, we don't intend to contact him before then," Paul said.

Another team was, and maybe still is, interested in Terry.

The Indians had a steady fan here last week, Frank Lane, former Indians' general manager and now special assistant to player personnel director for the Baltimore Orioles, followed the Tribe for several days.

There was no official statements, but sources close to the Indians said Lane wanted to make a deal for Terry, a right-hander who was 11-6 last year with the Tribe.

Dietzel Expected To Take South Carolina Grid Post

The Columbia State said in today's editions formal announcement would be made by South Carolina officials at a news conference Wednesday.

The New Orleans Time-Picayune said in a copywrited story by sports editor Bob Roesler that Army would announce Dietzel's resignation today and would begin looking for a new head coach immediately.

The Times-Picayune story quoted an "unimpeachable source" at Army as saying South Carolina would give Dietzel an eight-year contract calling for $35,000 a year.

South Carolina seeks to replace Marvin Bass, who resigned as athletic director and head football coach to become head coach and general manager of the new Montreal team in the Continental Football League.

The New Orleans story said Dietzel's seven-year contract at Army called for $18,000 a year and was later renewed to $19,000 for 10 years. He also has a rent-free cottage at West Point, the story said, and fringe benefits probably made the Army contract worth about $25,000 a year.

Dietzel's four Army teams had a 21-18-1 record. They had one victory and a tie in four games with arch rival Navy. The Cadets were 4-3-1 last fall.

Masters Course Is 'Fair' To All Pros, Palmer Says

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Complaints that Augusta National's sprawling layout can be conquered only by the Big Three in the Masters Golf Tournament are hotly rejected by Arnold Palmer, trying for his fifth title in nine years.

"I think this is an exceptionally fair golf course for everyone," Palmer said before making another practice run Tuesday over the wide fairways and massive greens where the Masters' showdown starts Thursday. "It is the fairest golf course there is.

"There are spots on each hole where you have to hit the ball to win the tournament. Just because the fairways are wide doesn't mean you can hit the ball anywhere.

"Placement is of the utmost importance here on every shot. Every shot has to be contemplated. Putts have to be figured beyond just trying to hole out. There are putts on which you would be foolish to try to hole out."

Palmer said the course doesn't eliminate the average hitter from the running, as contended by numerous golfers who can't match Palmer's booming drives.

"Look at Gary Player," Palmer said. "He's one of the so-called Big Three, and there are 50 guys who can drive the ball farther than he can."

Player, the wiry little South African who won the Masters in 1961, isn't so sure the wide open course can be handled by average hitters faced with matching shots with Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio slugger who is the other member of the reigning triumvirate.

"I think there should be a premium for accuracy on drives, just as there is on putts," Player said. "On these fairways all you have to do is hit the ball a mile."

Nicklaus, out to become the first back-to-back winner in the 29-year history of the Masters and considered the golfer most helped by the open spaces of the course, wasn't in the discussion.

The brawny sluggered followed the ritual that won for him last year, when he practiced on the course for a week and then flew home to Columbus, Ohio, for two days. He planned to resume practice today.

Palmer, who is becoming known as the "even-number" golfer at the Masters because he won in 1958, 1960, 1962 and 1964, said: "I like to believe in that even-number theory this year, but next year to hell with it."

Doug Sanders, hottest golfer on the circuit with three victories including two in the last two weekends, agreed with Palmer that the Big Three doesn't have the championship locked up.

"I think I can win it — if this old putting blade stays hot," the flambouyant Californian said. "I disagree with those who say the course is too big for me. Palmer, Nicklaus and those guys don't hit that much farther than I do."

Clay, Cooper Match Sought By Promoters

LONDON (AP) — Fight promoters on both sides of the Atlantic are competing for the right to put Cassius Clay up against Britain's heavyweight champion, Henry Cooper.

Alex Griffiths, who operates in the English Midlands, wants to stage the fight at a soccer ground and says he can take 300,000 pounds ($840,000).

"Clay," he said, "would be guaranteed 150,000 pounds ($420,000) — not bad for a lad who may be earning a few dollars a day in the Army before long."

Said Wicks: "Clay needs the money more than Cooper. Naturally we want Clay over here.

"But we will go any where to permit Henry to achieve his life's ambition."

Hull Earns Bonus After New Records

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Hull, who makes more money than almost anyone else in hockey, has earned a 2,000 windfall in National Hockey League bonuses for his record-shattering point barrage during the 1965-66 season.

The Chicago super-star, who set all-time NHL marks of 54 goals and 97 points, won the individual scoring title — and its accompanying cash awards — in a runaway, final league statistics revealed today.

Hull finished 19 points ahead of runners-up Stan Mikita of the Black Hawks and Jean Beliveau of Montreal's league champions. He will pocket $1,000 for the over-all scoring lead and another $1,000 for setting the pace in each half of the 70-game season.

Hull, whose 42-point output over the second half of the campaign was matched by Beliveau, will receive the top cash award by virtue of his 22-17 edge in goals over the Montreal captain in the final 35 games. Beliveau will get $250 as the runner-up for the second half.

The league will award an extra $1,000 as a result of second place ties in the scoring and goaltending races.

Rousseau and Mikita, with identical totals of 30 goals and 48 assists, will receive $500 apiece. Toronto and Chicago, deadlocked behind the Canadiens' Gump Worsley and Charlie Hodge in the Vezina Trophy scramble, each will have $500 to divide among their goalies.

Worsley and Hodge allowed 173 goals, nailing the Vezina Trophy by a 14-goal margin and earning the $1,000 prize. Chicago also used two goalies — Glenn Hall and Dave Dryden — while Toronto employed five.

The Montreal goaltenders also will share $250 for posting the best second-half record. Hall and Dryden won $250 for leading at the halfway mark. Roger Crozier of Detroit was the shut-out king with seven.

Orioles Seek Waivers On Don Larsen

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Don Larsen, a million-dollar pitcher 10 years ago, was available for $1 today after the Baltimore Orioles asked waivers on him preparatory to giving the veteran right-hander his unconditional release.

Larsen, 36, pitched the only no-hitter in World Series history in 1955 when he hurled a perfect game for the New York Yankees in the fifth game of the series against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Harry Dalton, personnel director of the Orioles, said he had tried unsuccessfully to line up another big league job for Larsen. After he is given his release, the lanky pitcher can be claimed for $1 by any club.

Yanks' Repoz Creates Own Hurricane

Belts 3 HR's As New York Edges Cincy

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Repoz, a young outfielder, walloped three home runs as the Yankees outlasted Cincinnati 10-9 in one of two games that survived Florida's rainy, windy weather.

Cancelled because of the storm were Houston-Pittsburgh; Minnesota - Kansas City; St. Louis-Chicago White Sox; Boston-New York Mets, and Atlanta-Philadelphia.

Repoz slammed two of his homers off Sammy Ellis, who will open the season for the Reds against the Mets next Monday at Cincinnati. Repoz tagged Ted Davidson for the third.

Leon Wagner rapped a pair of run-scoring doubles and left-handed ace Sam McDowell struck out seven Dodgers in the six innings he worked as Cleveland beat Los Angeles.

Max Alvis also drove in two runs for the Indians and McDowell, the American League's strikeout king last year, allowed five hits but had trouble with his control, walking five, in his six innings.

Ernie Broglio worked the first seven innings and relief specialist Ted Abernathy finished up the Cubs' three-hit shutout of the Angels. Broglio allowed all the California hits and stretched his spring record to three earned runs in 31 innings.

Catcher Chris Krug had a perfect day with four hits in four swings for Chicago. He drove in two runs. Billy Williams homered for the Cubs against Angel ace Dean Chance.

Curt Blefary, the American League's Rookie of the Year last season, hammered two home runs and Boog Powell had one as the Orioles defeated Washington.

Terry, Tribe Fast Heading For Dead End

The Clevleand Indians pitcher is the last holdout in major league baseball and it appears he and the Indians brass have come to a dead end.

"He won't budge," Indians Vice Presideent Walter (Hoot) Evers said Monday. "I called him a second time and there is no change. It's getting late."

This means the 30-year-old Terry still wants $38,000. Indians President Gabe Paul has offered $31,000.

"I have no plans to go to Tucson to talk to Gabe," Terry said. "I don't know that we could accomplish anything face-to-face that we can't by telephone."

The Indians may put Terry on their restricted list because they must cut to 28 players by midnight Sunday.

"As it stands now, we don't intend to contact him before then," Paul said.

Another team was, and maybe still is, interested in Terry.

The Indians had a steady fan here last week, Frank Lane, former Indians' general manager and now special assistant to player personnel director for the Baltimore Orioles, followed the Tribe for several days.

There was no official statements, but sources close to the Indians said Lane wanted to make a deal for Terry, a right-hander who was 11-6 last year with the Tribe.

Dietzel Expected To Take South Carolina Grid Post

The Columbia State said in today's editions formal announcement would be made by South Carolina officials at a news conference Wednesday.

The New Orleans Time-Picayune said in a copywrited story by sports editor Bob Roesler that Army would announce Dietzel's resignation today and would begin looking for a new head coach immediately.

The Times-Picayune story quoted an "unimpeachable source" at Army as saying South Carolina would give Dietzel an eight-year contract calling for $35,000 a year.

South Carolina seeks to replace Marvin Bass, who resigned as athletic director and head football coach to become head coach and general manager of the new Montreal team in the Continental Football League.

The New Orleans story said Dietzel's seven-year contract at Army called for $18,000 a year and was later renewed to $19,000 for 10 years. He also has a rent-free cottage at West Point, the story said, and fringe benefits probably made the Army contract worth about $25,000 a year.

Dietzel's four Army teams had a 21-18-1 record. They had one victory and a tie in four games with arch rival Navy. The Cadets were 4-3-1 last fall.

'Placement Is Important'

Masters Course Is 'Fair' To All Pros, Palmer Says

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Complaints that Augusta National's sprawling layout can be conquered only by the Big Three in the Masters Golf Tournament are hotly rejected by Arnold Palmer, trying for his fifth title in nine years.

"I think this is an exceptionally fair golf course for everyone," Palmer said before making another practice run Tuesday over the wide fairways and massive greens where the Masters' showdown starts Thursday. "It is the fairest golf course there is.

"There are spots on each hole where you have to hit the ball to win the tournament. Just because the fairways are wide doesn't mean you can hit the ball anywhere.

"Placement is of the utmost importance here on every shot. Every shot has to be contemplated. Putts have to be figured beyond just trying to hole out. There are putts on which you would be foolish to try to hole out."

Koufax, Drysdale Hold Key Again

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

And upon that question could rest the chances of the Dodgers to become the first NL pennant repeater since the Milwaukee Braves won in 1957 and 1958.

If Koufax and Drysdale, who signed for nearly a quarter of a million dollars after holding out for 32 days, can get into the starting rotation quickly and pitch as they did last year, the Dodgers conceivably could wind up at or near the top again.

But if the ace hurlers need more time to get into shape, the Dodgers could, at the start, get into trouble from which they might never receover.

The Dodgers are dependent on the two pitching whizzes. There's no doubt about that. Between them last season they won 49 regular season games and three in the World Series. Koufax also set a major league strikeout record and led the majors with a 2.04 earned run average.

No matter how well they pitch, however, the Dodgers had last year and still appear to have this season a weak-hitting team.

The offense was one of the weakest in the league in 1965 as the Dodgers finished seventh in team batting with a .245 average and last in home runs with 78, less than one every other game.

The return of outfielder Tommy Davis could add some potency to the line-up, but the Dodgers will have to wait and see how far he can return. Davis, the NL batting champion in 1962 and 1963, sat out all but 17 games last year with a broken ankle.

So must the Dodgers' infield experiment. Jim Lefebvre, the league's Rookie of the Year, has been switched from second base tm third making room for Nate Oliver, who finally may be ready to make it after hitting .284 at Spokane last season.

If Oliver can't, Lefebvre will go back to second, and either John Kennedy or the ever reliable Jim Gilliam—now a coach—will take over at third.

The remainder of the infield is set with Wes Parker at first base and Maury Wills at shortstop. John Roseboro is back behind the plate, and Ron Fairly and Willie Davis will be in the outfield with Tommy Davis or Lou Johnson.

The Dodgers do have some pitchers beside Koufax and Drysdale. Claude Osteen, 15-15 with a 2.79 ERA last year, is the No. 3 hurler while veteran Johnny Podres and Phil Regan, acquired from Detroit, could help.

Manager Walter Alston also has some youngsters who could come through, such as Don Sutton, Bill Singer and Joe Moeller.

But still the Dodgers' hopes for winning another pennant or even finishing among the top three or four lie with Koufax and Drysdale.

Penn Names Harter Coach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An alumnus and former assistant coach at the University of Pennsylvania is returning as the Quakers' new basketball coach.

Dick Harter, who Monday was officially appointed to the post, had served Jack McCloskey, the man he succeeds at Penn, as an assistant for seven years. McCloskey resigned to become basketball coach at Wake Forest.

Mets Improved, Stengel Claims Upon Departure

"They're greatly improved," Casey said. "The most impressive thing is the development of the outfield. With the way they're being platooned, they're no lower than third in the National League. Only the Giants and Braves outfields may be better."

Astros Sign Draft Choice

Griffin, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, was signed to a bonus contract by Astro scouts Jim Wilson and Karl Kuehl who previously had signed pitcher Larry Dierker.

"Tom has impressed us just as Dierker did," Wilson said "He throws very hard and has an excellent curve ball and good control."

Griffin will attend junior college until June, when he will report to the Astros' rookie team in Bismarck, N.D.

NHL To Award 6th New Franchise Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League was expected to finalize its expansion plans today with the awarding of a sixth new franchise to one of two St. Louis groups or to a Baltimore syndicate.

"If the presentations of the two St. Louis groups are unsatisfactory," said NHL President Clarence Campbell, "the franchise will go to Baltimore."

Columbia University's School of General Studies, which offers a B.S. degree, sends two-thirds of its graduates on to graduate and professional schools.

Koufax, Drysdale Hold Key Again

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now the Dodgers' even more monumental worry is how fast the left arm of Koufax and the right arm of Don Drysdale will be ready to take their regular turns in the rotation.

And upon that question could rest the chances of the Dodgers to become the first NL pennant repeater since the Milwaukee Braves won in 1957 and 1958.

If Koufax and Drysdale, who signed for nearly a quarter of a million dollars after holding out for 32 days, can get into the starting rotation quickly and pitch as they did last year, the Dodgers conceivably could wind up at or near the top again.

But if the ace hurlers need more time to get into shape, the Dodgers could, at the start, get into trouble from which they might never receover.

The Dodgers are dependent on the two pitching whizzes. There's no doubt about that. Between them last season they won 49 regular season games and three in the World Series. Koufax also set a major league strikeout record and led the majors with a 2.04 earned run average.

No matter how well they pitch, however, the Dodgers had last year and still appear to have this season a weak-hitting team.

The offense was one of the weakest in the league in 1965 as the Dodgers finished seventh in team batting with a .245 average and last in home runs with 78, less than one every other game.

The return of outfielder Tommy Davis could add some potency to the line-up, but the Dodgers will have to wait and see how far he can return. Davis, the NL batting champion in 1962 and 1963, sat out all but 17 games last year with a broken ankle.

So must the Dodgers' infield experiment. Jim Lefebvre, the league's Rookie of the Year, has been switched from second base tm third making room for Nate Oliver, who finally may be ready to make it after hitting .284 at Spokane last season.

If Oliver can't, Lefebvre will go back to second, and either John Kennedy or the ever reliable Jim Gilliam—now a coach—will take over at third.

The remainder of the infield is set with Wes Parker at first base and Maury Wills at shortstop. John Roseboro is back behind the plate, and Ron Fairly and Willie Davis will be in the outfield with Tommy Davis or Lou Johnson.

The Dodgers do have some pitchers beside Koufax and Drysdale. Claude Osteen, 15-15 with a 2.79 ERA last year, is the No. 3 hurler while veteran Johnny Podres and Phil Regan, acquired from Detroit, could help.

Manager Walter Alston also has some youngsters who could come through, such as Don Sutton, Bill Singer and Joe Moeller.

But still the Dodgers' hopes for winning another pennant or even finishing among the top three or four lie with Koufax and Drysdale.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An alumnus and former assistant coach at the University of Pennsylvania is returning as the Quakers' new basketball coach.

Dick Harter, who Monday was officially appointed to the post, had served Jack McCloskey, the man he succeeds at Penn, as an assistant for seven years. McCloskey resigned to become basketball coach at Wake Forest.

Mets Improved, Stengel Claims Upon Departure

And Ol' Case liked what he saw of the club he managed for 3½ years.

"They're greatly improved," Casey said. "The most impressive thing is the development of the outfield. With the way they're being platooned, they're no lower than third in the National League. Only the Giants and Braves outfields may be better."

Astros Sign Draft Choice

Griffin, a 6-foot-2, 200-pounder, was signed to a bonus contract by Astro scouts Jim Wilson and Karl Kuehl who previously had signed pitcher Larry Dierker.

"Tom has impressed us just as Dierker did," Wilson said "He throws very hard and has an excellent curve ball and good control."

Griffin will attend junior college until June, when he will report to the Astros' rookie team in Bismarck, N.D.

NHL To Award 6th New Franchise Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League was expected to finalize its expansion plans today with the awarding of a sixth new franchise to one of two St. Louis groups or to a Baltimore syndicate.

"If the presentations of the two St. Louis groups are unsatisfactory," said NHL President Clarence Campbell, "the franchise will go to Baltimore."

Columbia University's School of General Studies, which offers a B.S. degree, sends two-thirds of its graduates on to graduate and professional schools.

Chevrolet Sets $3 Million To Fix Accelerator Defects

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet Division of General Motors plans to spend about $3 million to repair accelerator defects in 1964-65 model cars.

A spokesman said Monday the firm had issued a call to owners of 1964-65 Chevelles and 1965 Chevrolets with Powerglide transmissions to bring them into dealers for repairs on throttles that reportedly stick. He said a splash shield would be installed free on all cars.

Unofficial estimates put the cost at $2 per car, or $3 million for the 1.5 million vehicles on the nation's roads.

The spokesman said Chevrolet had received reports of snow or slush causing accelerators to stick. However, he said the company had no reports of "personal injuries resulting from the fewer than half a dozen cases" involving such incidents.

"This happened only in heavy snow or slush at around 32 degrees," he said. Installation of the shield, he said, would "prevent slush from packing around the throttle linkage."

Asked about the large number of cars recalled, the spokesman said: "Regardless of the number of incidents involved we take corrective action as the need indicates."

The spokesman also declined comment on auto industry critic Ralph Nader's remark that the auto companies be required to notify the federal government anytime a defect was found in a large number of cars of one model. Nader made the suggestion to a Senate committee that now is studying President Johnson's highway safety bill.

Area Man Named Personnel Head For Ohio Power

Wayne S. Grimm of near Richmond has been named division personnel supervisor by the Ohio Power Co.

Grimm, an employe at Steubenville since joining Ohio Power as an engineer's assistant in 1952, advances from the position of senior personnel assistant. He held the latter post the past year.

Born in Steubenville, he was graduated from Jefferson Union High School in Richmond in 1951. He attended night school at the College of Steubenville from 1956 until last June, when he received a bachelor of science degree in accounting.

He served in the Army from 1953 until November 1955, spending 18 months in Germany.

He is married to the former Donna L. Chappell of Wintersville. They have three children.

Change In Ohio Laws Due For Highway Beautification

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio laws will have to be changed before the state can put into effect some provisions of a new federal highway beautification law.

That message is carried today before a U.S. Bureau of Public Roads hearing on implications of the federal law regulating roadside signs and junkyards.

Gov. James A. Rhodes was scheduled as the first witness. He was to be followed by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and Highway Director P. E. Masheter before representatives of salvage operators and outdoor advertising groups take over.

Ohio now has laws regulating roadside junkyards and salvage operations and governing billboards. But both laws will require modification to fit with the new federal law, which in many respects is milder than the Ohio statutes.

Ohio law requires junkyard operators to move or screen their operations when they are within 1,000 feet of a state or federal highway or 300 feet of a county or townships road. The federal law provides reimbursement to the operator for moving or screening his yard.

The federal law also provides compensation to outdoor advertising firms which will have to move billboards. State Law provides no compensation for moving billboards.

State officials will warn at the hearing that federal guidelines must be provided before the 1967 legislature meeets in January or it might be two more years before new laws could be enacted to get the federal provisions into effect in Ohio.

The federal law provides for the state to compensate owners of junkyards or billboards, then to be reimbursed by the federal government.

Hungary Marks Liberation Day In Relaxed Celebration

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Hungarians marked their 21st Liberation Day with a relaxed celebration Monday showing how the atmosphere has changed since Soviet tanks crushed the anti-Soviet uprising in 1956.

Ten thousand well-dressed members of the Communist Youth Union assembled in Heroes' Square and took a loyalty oath. Teen-age girls even had seamless nylons and smart hairdos.

Before a national television audience and perhaps 50,000 spectators, the youth pledged "to be true to proletarian internationalist ideas (and) if necessary to defend with arms the fatherland, the Hungarian People's Republic."

The military parade held every April 4 for nearly two decades was omitted for the first time. An official said that for economy reasons it will be staged only every five years in the future. Liberation Day celebrates the expulsion of German troops from Hungarian soil in 1945.

Bands played and a pale spring sun warmed the square, scene of climactic events in nearly a century of Hungarian history. Spectators munched sausages and soft drinks. A handful of the 60,000 Soviet troops estimated to be stationed in Hungary wandered about.

After the oath taking, visiting Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov said in a speech that "if those who laid down their lives 21 years ago for the liberation of Hungary could be here today, they would learn that they had not died in vain."

Police Note Similarities In 2 Slayings

CINCINNATI (AP)—The city's second rape-slaying in the past four months had several similarities with the first, police noted in the death of Mrs. Lois B. Dant, 58, Monday.

And there have been no arrests in the Dec. 2 killing of Mrs. Emogene Harrington, 52.

Both women were killed in daytime in the apartment houses where they lived—though Mrs. Dant's home in the Price Hill section was almost six miles southwest of the Walnut Hills area building where Mrs. Harrington was strangled.

Mrs. Dant's body was found by her husband Frank, 66, a retired purchasing agent, when he came home from church at 10:45 a. m.

The killer apparently did not enter the first-floor apartment until after 10 a. m. Mrs. Jack Geier, a cousin by marriage, told police she was talking with the victim about that time by telephone when Mrs. Dant hung up to answer a knock on the door.

Earlier, Mrs. Geier said, Mrs. Dant had interrupted the conversation to answer another knock on the door. She then returned to say it had been a man looking for the manager of the apartment building.

Several other retired people live in the building. One of them, Mrs. George Bronstrop, said she had heard what sounded like a moan and a door slamming about 10 a. m.

Two other similar attacks on women have been reported in recent months. An elderly woman was raped Oct. 12, but survived being choked with a cord. A 32-year-old woman was attacked in the basement of her home Jan. 16, but managed to fight off her assailant.

Two Are Fined Here In Traffic Violations

Two motorists were fined $5 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after entering "no contest" pleas to traffic violations.

Drawing the penalties were Joseph J. Zubay of 314 Campground Rd., Wellsville, accused of making an illegal turn at Washington and E. 5th Sts. Monday night, and Lila Jean Veglia of 1702 Alpha St., charged with crashing a traffic signal March 24 at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way.

Sentencing of Arthur Lewis Morris of 1400 Commerce St., Wellsville, charged with driving without an operator's permit, was continued indefinitely after the youth said he is entering the military service.

Morris has pleaded guilty March 28 to the charge that he operated a car with an expired temporary permit, but sentencing had been continued.

Assistant DA Asks Damages In Jailing

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — A Butler County assistant district attorney is asking damages in excess of $10,000 from a judge who jailed him briefly on a contempt of court citation.

Kiester found Hawk in contempt Friday for being absent from court, and the assistant district attorney spent about a half hour in jail until a lawyer paid his $1 bond.

Both men are Republicans.

Pair Back In Jail After Short Freedom

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two men are back in the Allegheny County jail today after two days of freedom.

Michael Schmidt and Donald Finnegan were arrested by police in Stollings, W. Va., Monday while driving a stolen car owned by an Ambridge man, police said.

Traffic Lights Regulated In Midland Test

The Koontz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh will regulate the traffic lights on Midland Ave., Midland, today as part of a survey designed to ease the flow of traffic along the borough's main street.

Mayor Eli G. Corak and Raymond Presutti, chairman of the Midland traffic committee, reported the regulation of the lights has been ordered in place of having the heavy flow of traffic take alternate routes on side streets and possibly endanger lives of residents.

The Pittsburgh company will make a survey of the traffic and regulate the lights in an effort to provide the "best efficiency possible for allowing a safe exit from the community."

"I hope the regulation of the lights will alleviate this problem," he said.

Ohio Pastor's Ride Delayed Second Time

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The Rev. Sumner L. Martin, 78, of Greencastle, Ind., who traversed Ohio on his Indiana to Baltimore horseback ride to mark Methodism's American bicentennial, has been delayed a second time.

Only 20 miles from his destination, he stabled his mare Maurie at Skyeesville, Md., last week and returned to Greencastle on learning his wife had been hospitalized with a broken hip. Previously halted by January snows in Ohio, the Rev. Mr. Martin vowed to be back in Sykesville April 20 to ride the final 20 miles to arrive in time for the April 21 - 24 Methodist convention.

Chevrolet Sets $3 Million To Fix Accelerator Defects

DETROIT (AP) — Chevrolet Division of General Motors plans to spend about $3 million to repair accelerator defects in 1964-65 model cars.

A spokesman said Monday the firm had issued a call to owners of 1964-65 Chevelles and 1965 Chevrolets with Powerglide transmissions to bring them into dealers for repairs on throttles that reportedly stick. He said a splash shield would be installed free on all cars.

Unofficial estimates put the cost at $2 per car, or $3 million for the 1.5 million vehicles on the nation's roads.

The spokesman said Chevrolet had received reports of snow or slush causing accelerators to stick. However, he said the company had no reports of "personal injuries resulting from the fewer than half a dozen cases" involving such incidents.

"This happened only in heavy snow or slush at around 32 degrees," he said. Installation of the shield, he said, would "prevent slush from packing around the throttle linkage."

Asked about the large number of cars recalled, the spokesman said: "Regardless of the number of incidents involved we take corrective action as the need indicates."

He declined comment on whether Chevrolet would assume responsibility for possible damages.

The spokesman also declined comment on auto industry critic Ralph Nader's remark that the auto companies be required to notify the federal government anytime a defect was found in a large number of cars of one model. Nader made the suggestion to a Senate committee that now is studying President Johnson's highway safety bill.

Area Man Named Personnel Head For Ohio Power

Wayne S. Grimm of near Richmond has been named division personnel supervisor by the Ohio Power Co.

Grimm, an employe at Steubenville since joining Ohio Power as an engineer's assistant in 1952, advances from the position of senior personnel assistant. He held the latter post the past year.

Born in Steubenville, he was graduated from Jefferson Union High School in Richmond in 1951. He attended night school at the College of Steubenville from 1956 until last June, when he received a bachelor of science degree in accounting.

He served in the Army from 1953 until November 1955, spending 18 months in Germany.

He is married to the former Donna L. Chappell of Wintersville. They have three children.

Change In Ohio Laws Due For Highway Beautification

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio laws will have to be changed before the state can put into effect some provisions of a new federal highway beautification law.

That message is carried today before a U.S. Bureau of Public Roads hearing on implications of the federal law regulating roadside signs and junkyards.

Gov. James A. Rhodes was scheduled as the first witness. He was to be followed by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and Highway Director P. E. Masheter before representatives of salvage operators and outdoor advertising groups take over.

Ohio now has laws regulating roadside junkyards and salvage operations and governing billboards. But both laws will require modification to fit with the new federal law, which in many respects is milder than the Ohio statutes.

Ohio law requires junkyard operators to move or screen their operations when they are within 1,000 feet of a state or federal highway or 300 feet of a county or townships road. The federal law provides reimbursement to the operator for moving or screening his yard.

The federal law also provides compensation to outdoor advertising firms which will have to move billboards. State Law provides no compensation for moving billboards.

State officials will warn at the hearing that federal guidelines must be provided before the 1967 legislature meeets in January or it might be two more years before new laws could be enacted to get the federal provisions into effect in Ohio.

The federal law provides for the state to compensate owners of junkyards or billboards, then to be reimbursed by the federal government.

Hungary Marks Liberation Day In Relaxed Celebration

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Hungarians marked their 21st Liberation Day with a relaxed celebration Monday showing how the atmosphere has changed since Soviet tanks crushed the anti-Soviet uprising in 1956.

Ten thousand well-dressed members of the Communist Youth Union assembled in Heroes' Square and took a loyalty oath. Teen-age girls even had seamless nylons and smart hairdos.

Before a national television audience and perhaps 50,000 spectators, the youth pledged "to be true to proletarian internationalist ideas (and) if necessary to defend with arms the fatherland, the Hungarian People's Republic."

The military parade held every April 4 for nearly two decades was omitted for the first time. An official said that for economy reasons it will be staged only every five years in the future. Liberation Day celebrates the expulsion of German troops from Hungarian soil in 1945.

Bands played and a pale spring sun warmed the square, scene of climactic events in nearly a century of Hungarian history. Spectators munched sausages and soft drinks. A handful of the 60,000 Soviet troops estimated to be stationed in Hungary wandered about.

After the oath taking, visiting Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov said in a speech that "if those who laid down their lives 21 years ago for the liberation of Hungary could be here today, they would learn that they had not died in vain."

Police Note Similarities In 2 Slayings

CINCINNATI (AP)—The city's second rape-slaying in the past four months had several similarities with the first, police noted in the death of Mrs. Lois B. Dant, 58, Monday.

And there have been no arrests in the Dec. 2 killing of Mrs. Emogene Harrington, 52.

Both women were killed in daytime in the apartment houses where they lived—though Mrs. Dant's home in the Price Hill section was almost six miles southwest of the Walnut Hills area building where Mrs. Harrington was strangled.

Mrs. Dant was strangled with a stocking — apparently taken from her own bathroom. Mrs. Harrington, wife of Dr. R. Paul Harrington, a University of Cinnati space scientist, was killed with a piece of plastic cord.

Mrs. Dant's body was found by her husband Frank, 66, a retired purchasing agent, when he came home from church at 10:45 a. m.

The body, with disarranged clothes, was on the living room floor.

The killer apparently did not enter the first-floor apartment until after 10 a. m. Mrs. Jack Geier, a cousin by marriage, told police she was talking with the victim about that time by telephone when Mrs. Dant hung up to answer a knock on the door.

Earlier, Mrs. Geier said, Mrs. Dant had interrupted the conversation to answer another knock on the door. She then returned to say it had been a man looking for the manager of the apartment building.

Several other retired people live in the building. One of them, Mrs. George Bronstrop, said she had heard what sounded like a moan and a door slamming about 10 a. m.

Two other similar attacks on women have been reported in recent months. An elderly woman was raped Oct. 12, but survived being choked with a cord. A 32-year-old woman was attacked in the basement of her home Jan. 16, but managed to fight off her assailant.

NEW CASES

Paul M. and Dorothy Hardwick, Duncan Ave., Westfield, MC 22, East Liverpool, vs. Philip I. and Hazel Garey, Bell School Rd., East Liverpool R.D., et al; action to set aside and cancel deed, to specifically enforce provisions of contract for sale of real estate and costs.

Two Are Fined Here In Traffic Violations

Two motorists were fined $5 and costs each today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after entering "no contest" pleas to traffic violations.

Drawing the penalties were Joseph J. Zubay of 314 Campground Rd., Wellsville, accused of making an illegal turn at Washington and E. 5th Sts. Monday night, and Lila Jean Veglia of 1702 Alpha St., charged with crashing a traffic signal March 24 at Pennsylvania Ave. and Park Way.

Sentencing of Arthur Lewis Morris of 1400 Commerce St., Wellsville, charged with driving without an operator's permit, was continued indefinitely after the youth said he is entering the military service.

Morris has pleaded guilty March 28 to the charge that he operated a car with an expired temporary permit, but sentencing had been continued.

Assistant DA Asks Damages In Jailing

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — A Butler County assistant district attorney is asking damages in excess of $10,000 from a judge who jailed him briefly on a contempt of court citation.

Kiester found Hawk in contempt Friday for being absent from court, and the assistant district attorney spent about a half hour in jail until a lawyer paid his $1 bond.

Both men are Republicans.

Pair Back In Jail After Short Freedom

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two men are back in the Allegheny County jail today after two days of freedom.

Michael Schmidt and Donald Finnegan were arrested by police in Stollings, W. Va., Monday while driving a stolen car owned by an Ambridge man, police said.

Traffic Lights Regulated In Midland Test

The Koontz Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh will regulate the traffic lights on Midland Ave., Midland, today as part of a survey designed to ease the flow of traffic along the borough's main street.

Mayor Eli G. Corak and Raymond Presutti, chairman of the Midland traffic committee, reported the regulation of the lights has been ordered in place of having the heavy flow of traffic take alternate routes on side streets and possibly endanger lives of residents.

The Pittsburgh company will make a survey of the traffic and regulate the lights in an effort to provide the "best efficiency possible for allowing a safe exit from the community."

"I hope the regulation of the lights will alleviate this problem," he said.

Ohio Pastor's Ride Delayed Second Time

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The Rev. Sumner L. Martin, 78, of Greencastle, Ind., who traversed Ohio on his Indiana to Baltimore horseback ride to mark Methodism's American bicentennial, has been delayed a second time.

Only 20 miles from his destination, he stabled his mare Maudie at Skyeesville, Md., last week and returned to Greencastle on learning his wife had been hospitalized with a broken hip. Previously halted by January snows in Ohio, the Rev. Mr. Martin vowed to be back in Sykesville April 20 to ride the final 20 miles to arrive in time for the April 21 - 24 Methodist convention.

Junior Editors Quiz on BLINKING

QUESTION: Why do people blink their eyes?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Our autos, these days, have many tricky little gadgets which increase our enjoyment and make traveling safer. One of the most important of these is the windshield wiper. Think how difficult car driving would be if we had no such busy little objects on the outside pushing rain and snow aside. A clean windshield is necessary both for enjoyment and safety. Exactly the same thing is true of the human eye. If dust or dirt were to stick on the eyeball, our vision would be greatly hampered; also, grit between eyeball and eyelids would prevent the eyeball from rotating freely, something very important. Nature has provided us with human windshield wipers adapted to the special purpose of keeping our eyeballs clean. Under the upper eyelids lie the lacrimal or tear glands. Since you have grown up and given up crying, you may have wondered what good tears are, and here's the answer. The tear fluid is spread over the eyeball as you blink your eyelids, cleaning the surface and lubricating the eyeball. The salt in your tears also helps to keep teh eyeball in good shape. Since we blink about 25 times a minute, our eyeballs are always clean.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: We have to turn on a windshield wiper in a car, but our eyes keep blinking without our having to do anything about it. Open your eyes and look at something steadily. Suddenly you'll find you have blinked—whether you expected to or not.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My father fought for the Allies in Europe during World War II. He and his men captured a Nazi headquarters. They divided the Nazi flags, Lugers, helmets and other items which were suitable for souvenirs.

A few months ago my dad took his souvenirs out of the attic and decided to decorate the rec room. He placed the Nazi flag on a stand next to the American flag. Anyone could see it was meant as a decoration.

Some friends of my parents came to play bridge last night. When they saw the Nazi flag they said some words I cannot spell and you cannot print. I guess they were overly upset because they had lost some relatives in the German gas chambers and the sight of a Nazi flag was too much for them.

My mother says if that Nazi flag is going to cause so much commotion, Dad should take it down. Dad says he is not expecting anybody to salute it — that it's just a souvenir. What do you say? — BYSTANDER.

Dear By: Salute it yet? Your dad must be out of his mind to place the Nazi flag next to the American flag. And you picked a fine person to ask what to do with it. The thought of those butchers enrages me so that I can barely see to type the answer to the next letter. Put the thing back in the attic. Or, better yet, tell your dad to burn it.

Sister's Problem

Dear Ann: I'm a 17-year-old girl who has a very serious problem. I'm sure my 16-year-old brother is a homosexual.

What can I do to help him? Our parents are divorced and we live with our mother. I'm not very close to mother and it would be very hard for me to bring up the subject. My father would not be interested.

Should I tell my brother I want to help him? He never has discussed this with me and I have not let on that I know something is wrong with him. Please give me some advice. — BIG SISTER.

Dear Big Sister: While most homosexuals are very lonely and desperately unhappy, some are reasonably content and have no desire to change.

Unless your brother confides in you that he wants help, say nothing to him — or to anyone else. The family physician would be the one to talk to if your brother asks for your counsel.

Mother, Too

Dear Ann: When I was in the service I met a girl I liked a lot. Her parents were very good to me and I had many wonderful Sunday dinners at their house.

I'm out of the service now and have invited this girl to meet my folks. (She lives 200 miles away.) I told her she could stay in our home and share my sister's bedroom. She wrote that she and her mother would love to come.

We don't have room for two people because the bed in my sister's room is the only extra bed in the house. Also, if the girl's mother comes, my mother would have to entertain her and mother isn't the social type. What should I do? — IN A PICKLE.

Can't your sister sleep at a friend's house for a couple of nights so your girl's mother can have her bed? Your mother needn't entertain her. All she has to do is be pleasant.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GOP Running Into Problems In Drive Against Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are running into difficulties in their campaign to combat threatened inflation by budget cuts rather than a tax increase.

The chief problem, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview, is that President Johnson "grossly underestimated expenditures" in his $112.8-billion budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"He talks about a $1.8-billion deficit," Dirksen said. "That's completely phony. The deficit is likely to be somewhere between $5 billion and $6 billion. We just can't cut enough to balance this budget."

"I think the cost of the Viet Nam is going to be considerably higher than it was estimated when the budget was submitted in January," he said. "There won't be any cutting of military funds."

Johnson estimated defense spending at $60.5 billion but did not break the total down to spell out the Viet Nam costs. The best estimate is around $10.5 billion.

Dirsken said inflation-conscious Republicans are having to take into account "the fact that in coming even close to balancing the budget the President made cuts in funds he knew Congress was likely to restore."

Johnson's reductions in school lunch, agriculture and certain education outlays already have been loudly denounced by both Democrats and Republicans. White House spokesmen have said Johnson recognizes that Congress' reaction may be to vote $1 billion or $2 billion more for spending than he programmed.

The President has threatened to withhold funds for what he regards as excessive appropriations. This action would not be popular in Congress.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., told Commissioner of Education Harold Howe II at a Senate Education subcommittee hearing Monday that any such move to cut back education outlays would be illadvised.

"Let the President do that if he wants to and let the American people answer him," Morse said.

Howe said he hadn't been told the President's intentions.

Meanwhile, House Republicans denounced a bill which would give Johnson standby controls over installment buying to counter inflationary pressures.

Republican members of the House Banking Committee called the proposed legislation a possible forerunner to wage-price controls. They said they want cuts in spending, rather than controls or a tax boost, to fight inflation.

Fire Levels Dormitory At Job Corps Center

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) —Fire thought to have started in a furnace room destroyed a wooden dormitory of a Job Corps center at Camp Perry early today. No one was injured.

It was not determined how many of the 112 youths and 30 staff members at the center were in the dormitory, one of the $400,000 worth of new buildings put up for the Job Corps.

Board Eyes 2 Applicants On Midland Post

The Midland Board of Education interviewed two applicants for the school superintendent's post Sunday afternoon, but deferred action on an appointment for further consideration.

"No action has been taken," he said. "However, the appointment should be decided upon by the next regular meeting of the board on April 11."

The school board has been interviewing applicants since opening the position for applications in February. The appointee will replace Supt. Edgar E. Richards, who has reported he will not apply again.

The board also is expected to act on the appointment of a replacement for William A. Walters, principal, who announced his retirement in January.

The board appointed Kuzma principal April 20, then voided the action because of the lack of members present at the meeting.

The school law states all nine board members must be present to vote on the appointment and five votes are necessary to make the appointment. Kuzma was selected by a 4-3 margin.

4 Children Rescued, Brother Dies In Fire

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)— Four children age 2 to 8 were rescued by a neighbor, but their brother Emmitt Bryant Lawson Jr., 4, perished in a house fire here Monday.

In addition, the receipts included $7,403.50 from businesses and $23,254.89 from individuals whose income is not subject to withholding at the source, the report said.

Lady Bird Back On LBJ Ranch After Texas Tour

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson was home on her own LBJ Ranch today after four days of touring Texas, and she still had some beautification-conservation missions on schedule.

The first thing the traveling First Lady wanted to do was check up on the wild flowers she had planted around the ranch.

She'd seen plenty of wild, spectacular scenery in the Big Bend country of southwest Texas, and now she's quietly taking a look at her own home beautification efforts.

Mrs. Johnson flew to the ranch Monday afternoon with Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and George B. Hartzog Jr., director of the National Park Service, who went along on her Texas tour promoting one of the biggest of the nation's parks.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My father fought for the Allies in Europe during World War II. He and his men captured a Nazi headquarters. They divided the Nazi flags, Lugers, helmets and other items which were suitable for souvenirs.

A few months ago my dad took his souvenirs out of the attic and decided to decorate the rec room. He placed the Nazi flag on a stand next to the American flag. Anyone could see it was meant as a decoration.

Some friends of my parents came to play bridge last night. When they saw the Nazi flag they said some words I cannot spell and you cannot print. I guess they were overly upset because they had lost some relatives in the German gas chambers and the sight of a Nazi flag was too much for them.

My mother says if that Nazi flag is going to cause so much commotion, Dad should take it down. Dad says he is not expecting anybody to salute it — that it's just a souvenir. What do you say? — BYSTANDER.

Dear By: Salute it yet? Your dad must be out of his mind to place the Nazi flag next to the American flag. And you picked a fine person to ask what to do with it. The thought of those butchers enrages me so that I can barely see to type the answer to the next letter. Put the thing back in the attic. Or, better yet, tell your dad to burn it.

Sister's Problem

Dear Ann: I'm a 17-year-old girl who has a very serious problem. I'm sure my 16-year-old brother is a homosexual.

What can I do to help him? Our parents are divorced and we live with our mother. I'm not very close to mother and it would be very hard for me to bring up the subject. My father would not be interested.

Should I tell my brother I want to help him? He never has discussed this with me and I have not let on that I know something is wrong with him. Please give me some advice. — BIG SISTER.

Dear Big Sister: While most homosexuals are very lonely and desperately unhappy, some are reasonably content and have no desire to change.

Unless your brother confides in you that he wants help, say nothing to him — or to anyone else. The family physician would be the one to talk to if your brother asks for your counsel.

Mother, Too

Dear Ann: When I was in the service I met a girl I liked a lot. Her parents were very good to me and I had many wonderful Sunday dinners at their house.

I'm out of the service now and have invited this girl to meet my folks. (She lives 200 miles away.) I told her she could stay in our home and share my sister's bedroom. She wrote that she and her mother would love to come.

We don't have room for two people because the bed in my sister's room is the only extra bed in the house. Also, if the girl's mother comes, my mother would have to entertain her and mother isn't the social type. What should I do? — IN A PICKLE.

Dear Pickle: Obviously the girl doesn't consider it proper to stay in your home unless her mother accompanies her.

Can't your sister sleep at a friend's house for a couple of nights so your girl's mother can have her bed? Your mother needn't entertain her. All she has to do is be pleasant.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GOP Running Into Problems In Drive Against Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are running into difficulties in their campaign to combat threatened inflation by budget cuts rather than a tax increase.

The chief problem, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview, is that President Johnson "grossly underestimated expenditures" in his $112.8-billion budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

"He talks about a $1.8-billion deficit," Dirksen said. "That's completely phony. The deficit is likely to be somewhere between $5 billion and $6 billion. We just can't cut enough to balance this budget."

"I think the cost of the Viet Nam is going to be considerably higher than it was estimated when the budget was submitted in January," he said. "There won't be any cutting of military funds."

Johnson estimated defense spending at $60.5 billion but did not break the total down to spell out the Viet Nam costs. The best estimate is around $10.5 billion.

Dirsken said inflation-conscious Republicans are having to take into account "the fact that in coming even close to balancing the budget the President made cuts in funds he knew Congress was likely to restore."

Johnson's reductions in school lunch, agriculture and certain education outlays already have been loudly denounced by both Democrats and Republicans. White House spokesmen have said Johnson recognizes that Congress' reaction may be to vote $1 billion or $2 billion more for spending than he programmed.

The President has threatened to withhold funds for what he regards as excessive appropriations. This action would not be popular in Congress.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., told Commissioner of Education Harold Howe II at a Senate Education subcommittee hearing Monday that any such move to cut back education outlays would be illadvised.

"Let the President do that if he wants to and let the American people answer him," Morse said.

Howe said he hadn't been told the President's intentions.

Meanwhile, House Republicans denounced a bill which would give Johnson standby controls over installment buying to counter inflationary pressures.

Republican members of the House Banking Committee called the proposed legislation a possible forerunner to wage-price controls. They said they want cuts in spending, rather than controls or a tax boost, to fight inflation.

Fire Levels Dormitory At Job Corps Center

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) —Fire thought to have started in a furnace room destroyed a wooden dormitory of a Job Corps center at Camp Perry early today. No one was injured.

It was not determined how many of the 112 youths and 30 staff members at the center were in the dormitory, one of the $400,000 worth of new buildings put up for the Job Corps.

Board Eyes 2 Applicants On Midland Post

The Midland Board of Education interviewed two applicants for the school superintendent's post Sunday afternoon, but deferred action on an appointment for further consideration.

Maurice Newman, president, said eight men applied for the job, but only seven men were interviewed.

"No action has been taken," he said. "However, the appointment should be decided upon by the next regular meeting of the board on April 11."

The school board has been interviewing applicants since opening the position for applications in February. The appointee will replace Supt. Edgar E. Richards, who has reported he will not apply again.

The board also is expected to act on the appointment of a replacement for William A. Walters, principal, who announced his retirement in January.

The board appointed Kuzma principal April 20, then voided the action because of the lack of members present at the meeting.

The school law states all nine board members must be present to vote on the appointment and five votes are necessary to make the appointment. Kuzma was selected by a 4-3 margin.

After voiding the action on March 20, the board opened the principal post for Midland School District personnel to apply.
